HOKE SMITH FOR SENATE AGAINST CLAY

Talk of Opposition Indulged in by Friends of Governor.

HE MAKES NO PLEDGES BEYOND TWO-YEAR TERM

His Friends Believe That After Completing One Term He Will Not Seek Reelection, but Will Aspire to Place in United States Senate.

By JOHN CORRIGAN.

Will Governor Hoke Smith oppose Hon. A. S. Clay for the United States senate next year?

This is a political topic which is being made the subject of very lively discussion by those who heard the governor's political address at Sparta on Tuesday—his first public address since his inauguration as governor. The belief is growing that he will aspire to fill Senator Clay's seat.

The probability of Governor Smith offering for the senate has for several months been a matter of political speculation in Georgia. Various incidents have furnished corroborative evidence that tended to confirm this belief. Several random expressions uttered by Governor Smith in conversation with his friends and quoted later by them, have created the belief that he really covets a seat in the senate.

On last Monday evening on board the Central train on which the governor's party made the trip from Atlanta en route to Sparta, where Governor Smith was scheduled to deliver an educational address, a crowd of supporters sought a definite expression from the governor as to his future political plans and whether he would run for the senate. In reply to them he said:

"I may give Senator Clay a chance to show whether he can beat me."

This was taken to mean that he will definitely announce within the next few months. Nothing further was said on the subject, but those who heard the admission, felt there was no doubt he would make the race. At the school grounds at Sparta, where the speaking took place last Tuesday, they were discussing the matter as a certainty.

Judge Little Predicts Smith's Candidacy.

Judge F. L. Little, of Sparta, an enthusiastic supporter of Governor Smith, in discussing the report amid a crowd of friends gathered on the veranda of the hotel in Sparta after the speaking, said:

"This is undoubtedly the step for Governor Smith to take. He should do so at once. I believe he can be elected easily. He stirred up the reform wave which has swept over Georgia and it is but natural that he should be swept into the highest office within the gift of the people on the crest. He is ambitious to serve the state in the United States senate, and I expect two years from now to see him there. If he accepts another term as governor, he will naturally have to disappoint a great many officeseekers. They will thereafter oppose him. It was this way with Colquitt, Gordon, Northen and other democratic governors who might be mentioned. Now is the best chance Governor Smith will ever have to be senator."

Other supporters of the governor took the same view of the case. They remarked more than once on his failure to commit himself to more than two years in the govrenor's office. It was noted that he said he would work for the passage of the measures to which he had given his support during the next two years. He did not say that if all these measures were not enacted into law at the end of that time he would appeal to the voters to continue him in the governor's office for two more years until the job was completed.

The exercises at the district agricultural school grounds near Sparta on Tuesday and the presence of the governor and Representative Tom Hardwick, attracted a crowd of visitors from all over the district. The governor's ambition constituted an attractive political morsel. It was discussed pro and con. The suggestion was made that Representative Hardwick also aspires to a seat in the senate.

When the governor carefully sidestepped any promise to personally continue after this term the fight for corporation reform, which he said had only just begun, friends in the audience exchanged meaning glances. They communicated the news by nudging each other.

After dweling at length on the prohibition, anti-narcotic, disfranchisement and railroad commission bills, Governor Smith made this significant statement:

"Before my two-year term is up, I will be able to say to the people of Georgia 'I have made good on every one of the reforms demanded in my platform.'"

This declaration, taken in connection with the statements made in personal conversation, clinched the matter in the minds of his friends.

Later in the evening when the governor stated that he and Representative Hardwick were to be the guests of Tom Watson at his home in Thomson that night at dinner, Major Charles E. McGregor and other old-time populists put it down that a senatorship was to be discussed over the tea cups.

Senator A. S. Clay was elected to the United States senate in 1896, succeeding Hon. John B. Gordon. He took his seat on March 4, 1897. His second term in office will expire on March 4, 1909. This means that the election will come off next year. When the actual announcement of Governor Smith's intention will be made known and the campaign to begin. If he does announce, is indefinite.

Still, it is fair to assume that during the next few months as the governor travels over the state, visiting the various district agricultural schools, senatorial talk will be as rife as it was at Sparta on Tuesday.

N. Y. EXCHANGE MADE TO REVISE COTTON GRADES

Big Difference Between N. Y. Contracts and Actual Cotton Forced Action.

PREMIUMS ARE REDUCED ON ALL THE HIGH GRADES

But Increased Penalties Are Given on the Low Grades—Penalties Are Particularly Severe on the Tinged and Stained Cotton.

New York, September 11.—The regular September meeting of the revision committee of the New York cotton exchange was held after the close of business this afternoon. Much interest has been taken in the probable action of the committee owing to the big discount at which local contracts had been selling as compared with middling cotton in the open market, and the trade had anticipated that the action of the committee would bring the contract about fifty points nearer parity with the middling grade.

The revision announced reduced premiums on the high grades about 25 points, but gave increased penalties on the low grades of from about twenty to one hundred points, with the penalties particularly severe on the tinged and strained cotton. A revision of about fifty points had probably been discounted.

The following will show the present differences on and off middling compared with those in force previously:

HUSBAND OF MARY WILKINS.

Arrested on Charge of Backing Negroes in Crap Game.

New York, September 11.—Dr. Charles M. Freeman, husband of Mary E. Wilkins, the novelist, has been arrested in his home town of Metuchen, N. J., on the charge of aiding and abetting a gambling game.

Dr. Freeman, it appears, was a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor. It is charged that he backed a citizen of the town in a game of craps against two negroes, his object being, it is alleged, to influence the negroes to vote for him. The primaries were held yesterday, and Dr. Freeman was not only hopelessly beaten, but his arrest on the gambling charge occurred.

Dr. Freeman denies that he was present at the game and does not take his arrest seriously. He was held in $500 bail for the action of the grand jury.

TREATY OF PEACE DECLARED.

Chicago Board of Trade and Elevator Interests Agree.

Chicago, September 11.—A treaty of peace has been declared between the Chicago board of trade and the allied elevator interests, ending the war which for several months has been a disturbing element in the grain trade. The owners of elevators, it is said, have acceded to the demands of the exchange as to the conduct of important features of their business. All the big concerns made application to the board of trade directors yesterday to have their respective warehouses declared regular under the rules of the exchange. These applications will be considered at a special meeting of the directors to be held today, and it is generally expected they will be favorably acted on.

All of the elevators agreed last July not to renew their state licenses, which are necessary to the operating of public houses. This threat was a serious menace to the status of contracts made in the pit, and the board, in order to protect itself, made application for an injunction restraining the elevator interest from going out of business as public warehouse men.

The injunction was granted, and on a rehearing was sustained by Judge Carter, of the Illinois supreme court, and still remains in effect.

Probable Street Car Extension.

Columbus, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—It is reported as very probable that the building of the new bridge across the Chattahoochee river at Dillingham street, authorized by the voters yesterday, will be followed by the extension of the Columbus Railroad Company's line into lower Girard. The company would then have three lines in Alabama, and a belt line through the two cities of Phenix and Girard would probably be formed.

FLAMES RACED ON THE INDIANA

United States Battleship Narrowly Escapes Being Destroyed

Washington, September 11.—The navy department today made public the fact that, through a fire in her coal bunkers on the morning of September 5, the battleship Indiana, now undergoing repairs at the League Island navy yard, narrowly escaped destruction, the ammunition in the adjacent magazines being safely removed only through the exhibition of the greatest courage on the part of the officers and crew.

No damage resulted from the fire, which was caused by spontaneous combustion of coal. The work of removing the ammunition from the adjacent twelve and six-inch gun's magazines was, according to the report, proceeded with quietly. The two magazines and the shell rooms became dangerously heated and were flooded to a depth of twenty inches.

Lieutenant Commander J. L. Sticht directed the fire party consisting of Gunner L. Schull and nine men, who entered the magazines and removed the ammunition. The six boxes nearest the bulkhead were so hot as to be handled with difficulty, while the bulkheads and 13-inch shells were so hot that they burned the hands and blistered the paint. The coal on the fire was flooded until the temperature dropped to normal.

Those who entered the magazine were complimented for bravery by the commanding officer, and are: C. W. Leisegand, E. Rowe, C. E. Bartunick, J. L. Grateon, H. A. Linderman, E. J. Cross, E. S. Shepard, and L. Oster.

CZAR'S YACHT STRIKES ROCKS

Standart is Fast off the Coast of Finland.

Pango, Finland, September 11.—The Russian imperial yacht Standat, with Emperor Nicholas and Empress Alexandra and their family aboard, is fast on the rocks off Horsevapoint on the coast west of this place. The yacht is apparently in no danger, as the emperor and his family remain on the yacht. The Standart ran upon the rocks which were submerged at high tide at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and remained fast.

A steam life boat from Revel, on the gulf of Finland, has arrived upon the scene and seven torpedo boats, which have been guarding the imperial yacht on its tour in Finnish waters are standing by to render assistance if needed.

CROWD BREAKS RECORD IN POINT OF MAGNITUDE AND TENSE EXCITEMENT

By SIDNEY ORMOND.

Umpire Pfenninger is a big-hearted humanitarian; that's what he is. This despite the fact that some of his decisions yesterday were decidedly off color.

Not only is he a humanitarian, he is a wise man in his day and generation.

He seized the psychological moment yesterday and called the game just in time to prevent over nine thousand fans from an attack of nervous prostration which would have left them mental and physical wrecks.

For what seemed aeons, but which was really only two hours and twenty minutes, the largest crowd that ever congregated in Atlanta was keyed up to a pitch of excitement that was painful. It was not that form of excitement which finds easy outlet in yelling and screaming and pounding of sticks. It was of too keen pitch for that.

And, finding no mode of expression, it fed on the nerves of the vast multitude. Outwardly calm, the vast majority were inwardly raging with an unreasoning excitement—the indefinable feeling of suspense which seems to threaten one's very reason.

Only at rare intervals was there any let-up. Two spectacular running catches of apparently forlorn chances by Fox brought forth a very fury of applause. Demonstrations of physical and mental relief they might be called. They came when the tension was becoming unbearable. Immediately following these outbreaks was a tightening up of nerves to withstand the gripping, ripping, tearing incidents of the struggle.

When the game was called at the end of the ninth inning, a mighty sigh, like unto that of a man who is suddenly relieved of a great burden, arose. It was the sigh of complete and utter exhaustion. It came from the throats of individuals who looked as if they had undergone great physical strain.

Danger Lurked in Crowd.

It was such a crowd as breeds sudden and unreasoning violence. Happily, nothing untoward happened to provoke it—to snap the slender thread which held its sanity in leash. The most trivial thing would have caused it to throw off all restraint and send reason galloping with the winds. It is awful to contemplate the potentialities of such a crowd stung into fury.

Worse than foolish it is to attempt theorizing about such a crowd; to laugh at its nerves; to pit the paltry result of a run, more or less, against the intensity of mind and body displayed by thousands of sensible people. You have said it all when you say it was simply a vast human gathering moved by a common impulse. Or to put it differently, it was merely the mob gone baseball mad!

But a Common Feeling.

Maybe you are not interested in baseball and cannot understand its compelling interest. However, you have experienced the same sensations that yesterday's crowd felt. Perhaps it was at a horse race when the colors were hopelessly jumbled and blended into a kaleidoscopic blur at the last turn; perhaps it was the night of an election when you watched the returns; again it may have been when the contagion of a mob gathered you up and carried you with it you knew not why.

Democracy of the Crowd.

If a touch of nature makes all the world akin, a baseball score sets externals at naught and puts all fans on an equal footing. Snobbery among your died-in-the-wool baseball fans does not exist. And herein is one of the great beauties of the game.

The crowd of yesterday ran the gamut of human kind. Search the city for the integral parts which make up its population and you would have found each one of them at the game. All the gradings of the rich, all the shadings of the poor, all ages of both sexes from infants in arms to doddering decrepitude, all callings, all professions had representatives in the throng. Withal it was democratic.

Before the practice had begun every available seat in grandstand, boxes, smokers and bleachers was taken, and streams were pouring into the side lines. It was worse than useless for the police to attempt to keep them in check. One daring youth ran the gauntlet from left to right field, closely pursued by a bicycle officer. This was the signal. A leader arose equal to the occasion and soon an army was marching across the diamond.

Long before the game was called the ridges along the slope back of right field were serrated lines of humanity, five and ten deep, while in front of the smoker they were packed like sardines.

It was no rowdy gathering, this overflow. At regular intervals the dark garb of the men was relieved by bright flashes of color from parasols and gowns of debutantes, upon whom the sun's rays beat pitilessly, but to no avail. They stood their ground unflinchingly and did not complain. Behind the fence, far up on the wooded slopes of the hill, stood knots of impecunious rooters. Thus the rich were hot and cramped, while the poor were cool and comfortable. The law of compensation, do you say?

No, it was just baseball!

TO FIGHT FOR PORT RATE.

Macon Wants Same Reduction That Atlanta Seeks.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—At the monthly meeting of the Macon chamber of commerce this evening, definite announcement was made by the members that they would enter a fight for the port rate upon the same grounds and principles that have been advanced by Atlanta in the fight. Committees have been given the matter and they will set to work at once. Macon business men will urge that they are entitled to their share of the reduction.

ROOSEVELT WILL BE GUEST

Of Ladies' Hermitage Association in Nashville on October 22.

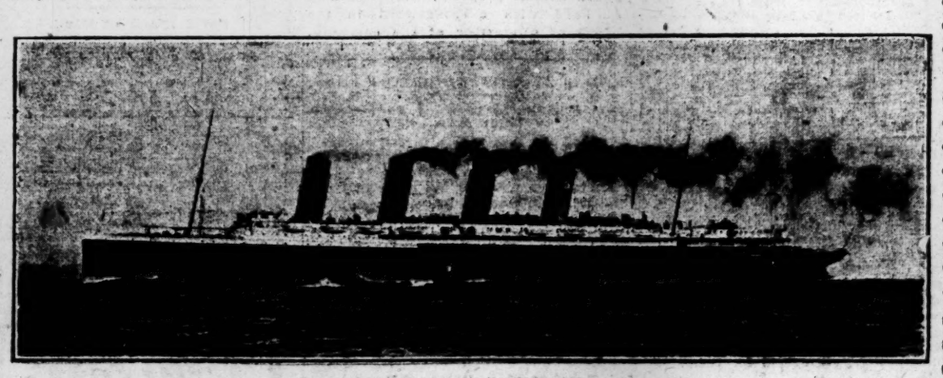

Nashville, Tenn., September 11.—President Roosevelt will be a guest of Nashville on October 22, and the directors of the Ladies' Hermitage Association have extended the following invitation to visit the home of Andrew Jackson:

"The Ladies' Hermitage Association, which, for the past eighteen years, has had the privilege of caring for the home of Andrew Jackson, are gratified to know of your acceptance of the invitation of the Nashville board of trade to visit the Hermitage on October 22. It will be our pleasure to extend to you at that time a cordial welcome and to receive you at the historic homestead. We hope Mrs. Roosevelt will be with you."

Seven Years for Stealing $100,000.

New York, September 11.—Chester B. Runyan, paying teller of the Windsor Trust Company, who confessed to stealing $100,000 of the company's funds, was sentenced today to serve seven years in Sing Sing prison.

LUSITANIA GOING AT TOP SPEED IN HOME STRETCH TO WIN RECORD

THE STEAMSHIP LUSITANIA.

New York, September 11.—Ploughing through the seas at a speed never before attained by a passenger steamship, the giant turbiner Lusitania of the Cunard line is sweeping along at a 25-knot clip on her maiden voyage to New York and wireless messages received from Cape Race, N. F., early today shows that she has broken all trans-Atlantic records. If she maintains her speed through the last thousand miles of her trip the hope of a four-day trip across the Atlantic will have been realized.

The Lusitania came into the wireless zone of Cape Race at 5:20 o'clock today and telegraphed that she was then 225 miles southeast of the Cape or 1,125 miles from Sandy Hook lightship. The dispatch today showed that the ship had covered 1,655 miles of the voyage in approximately seventy hours, through swelling seas and murky fogs which hindered her progress and that she had averaged a trifle better than 23 1-2 knots an hour, a speed record never before equalled by an trans-Atlantic steamship on a westward voyage. The Lusitania is expected to flash by the red hulled lightship off Sandy Hook about 1 o'clock Friday morning, which would make the time of the voyage about four days and 18 hours or more than 12 hours better than the record trip between Queenstown and New York or five days seven hours and 25 minutes, made by the Lucania of the Cunard line in 1894. The Lusitania's maiden voyage promises also to wrench of the title of the queen of the seas from the Deutschland of the Hamburg-American line. The Deutschland made a voyage from Cheboygan to New York in 1903 in five days, 11 hours and 54 minutes over a course 3,053 miles in length at an average speed of 23.15 knots.

FIERCE DRAW IN LAST GAME ENDS SERIES

Neither Team Could Produce Run in Nine Hotly Contested Rounds.

GREAT PITCHERS' DUEL RESULTED IN TIE GAME

Castleton and Suggs Worked Great Baseball With Honors Even. Neither Team Hit When Hits Meant Runs—Darkness Stopped Game.

By ALEX LYNN.

The curtain has been rung down on the momentous series and the Crackers are fifteen points to the good, a fact which practically decides this going.

It was a drawn battle yesterday in every sense of the expression, score 0 to 0. Neither the Babblers nor the Crackers deserved to win, for neither had it the wee bit of a shade over the other at any time during the grueling fight.

Darkness stopped the game at the conclusion of the ninth.

Roy Castleton and George Suggs split honors just as the teams did, save in one feature and that was the hits—the home brigade touched George for just one more than the Memphii got from the southpaw. Both had the same number of strikeouts, and while Suggs issued a brace of passes to the Cracker slabman's one, he deliberately walked Sid Smith at a time when a hit would have meant one run or possibly two.

Both crawled out of about the same number of holes and there you are—a draw in every particular.

Round after round flitted by with neither bunch counting.

The sameness of the going was punctuated now and then by men getting on the way, which caused the baseball pulse of an enormous multitude to beat faster, but each time it resulted in nothing, as many things do.

Game a Hot One.

The game was a great one in one way—that is it furnished the patrons with the warmest contest seen in Atlanta his season. In another way it wasn't so strong, and that is Atlanta failed to cop. But we are pretty well satisfied. The tie was much better than a victory for Memphis, that goes without saying.

And another beautiful feature is that the Crackers walked off with the entire Memphis series. The Babblers failed to draw a blooming thing during their stay here, except a blasted hope or two. Bill's bunch took the cover to the opener; rain won the second and the last was a draw.

Affairs didn't break well for the home layout at the getaway, but Castleton waxed stronger as the afternoon grew more ancient and after the third he settled into a magnificent stride.

In the very first chapter, the enemy had a man on the way and that was great business in a battle like that of yesterday. With one gone, Sid Smith misplayed. Charles Babb himself safe, Charles managed to meander just as far as second—that's all. Neigh-

PEARLS IN AN OYSTER CAUSE RUSH ON MARKET

The price of oysters ascended skyward with the rush of a pyrotechnic bomb last evening. Today those who would tickle their palates with the delectable bivalves may expect to have their orders served in crushed and minced condition. Restaurant keepers and wholesale men are taking no more risks.

The reason is that last evening R. A. Boyd, a contractor, discovered 32 pearls of varying size in an order of oysters which was served before him in a Greek restaurant of this city. He will this morning have them priced by a jeweler.

The find was noised about the streets, and almost immediately there was a run on oysters. But it was again a sad case of nay, nay, Pauline. Everybody who had an oyster was hanging onto it, waiting for a bullish market. This morning one may speculate in oysters, "sight unseen," in their shells closed by themselves and nature, in much the same manner as one speculates at an "old horse" sale of the express companies.

Meanwhile, it is understood that the 25 cents listed on local bills of fare as the standard price for a half stew does not include any pearl of fabulous value on which the famishing citizen may happen to break a tooth. The pearl is the rake-off, and as such belongs to the house.

POSTAGE STAMP BOND BIDDER AGAIN COMES TO THE FRONT

New York, September 11.—Considerable attention has again been attracted in the financial district to Abraham White, who came into prominence two years ago through the purchase of the John A. McCall mansion, on the New Jersey coast, by his bid for New York city's 4 1-2 per cent bond issue. Mr. White, in behalf of the Abraham White Bond company, offered to take the entire issue at prices ranging from $100.35 to $102.59. It was said by the comptroler that he would receive about $15,000,000 of the $40,000,000 issue. A check for $800,000 accompanied Mr. White's bid, and he says he is ready to pay for the bonds that are likely to be awarded him at any time.

The originality of White's financial operations have gained for him the soubriquet of the "Rock Buyer" and the original "postage stamp bond bidder."

He became known as the 'Rock Buyer" on account of his practice of buying city lots bearing big outcroppings of rock. He had noticed that such lots could be bought at about half the prices of those on the building level, even in the same vicinity, and figured that the rock lots would be worth just as much as the other kind in the near future. Time proved him right, and he made handsome profits.

But it was when he bid on $8,000,000 of government bonds eleven years ago that Mr. White gained his greatest prominence. It cost him just 44 cents in stamps to send his bid to Secretary Carlisle, and he was allotted bonds in the sum of $1,500,000. He sought and secured financial aid from Russell Sage, who was attracted by his originality. The deal netted White $100,000, his only risk having been his 44 cents. In this deal he acquired his other nickname, "The Original Postage Stamp Bond Bidder."

Later he became associated with "Sam" Byerly, an express clerk, another postage stamp bidder, who had been allotted $8,000,000 of Panama bonds. Mr. White made Mr. Byerly vice-president of the Abraham White Bond company.

White, it is expected, will now make a snug profit out of his apparently successful deal in city bonds.

LEAPED TO DOOM TO ESCAPE WIFE

Carruthers, Mo., September 11.—When Mrs. Arch Feaman, revolver in hand, burst open the door leading into her husband's room in the Wilson hotel, last night, Lucy Lofsden, a waitress, who was in the room, jumped out of the third-story window. She was fatally crushed. Mrs. Feaman was arrested today, but was released on bond. Feaman and his young wife have been living apart for six months.

SEAB WRIGHT OPENS FIGHT

Anniston, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—Hon. Seaborn Wright, of Rome, Ga., who was one of the leading forces in the Georgia legislature in making the fight in that state for prohibition, will open the fight in Calhoun county on next Sunday, when he will deliver an address at Noble Street Theater. He is an eloquent speaker, and his lecture will likely be the means of securing many votes for the prohibitionists.

It is likely that the registration books of the county will be opened on Friday and Saturday preceding the election.

ONE WAS KILLED AND MANY HURT

New Orleans, September 11.—A report reached this city early today that a gasoline boat has exploded on the Mississippi river, about eighty miles below the city.

The report says that one person was killed and that a special train is bringing the injured to New Orleans. No other details have been obtained.

There are several large gasoline boats on the lower Mississippi which carry from a dozen to twenty passengers each.

FIRE GUTS JEWELRY STORE

Shop of A. B. Langley Is All But a Complete Loss From an Early Morning Blaze.

The jewelry store of A. B. Langley on Decatur street was gutted by fire at an early hour this morning. The fire supposedly caught from a gas jet which was burning near some inflammable material The fire had been burning for some time before discovered by a watchman of a nearby building. The shades in the front of the store were pulled down and the light of the fire thus shut in. The damage has not been estimated, but it is believed that it will easily reach the thousand mark. It had been impossible to reach the owner at an early hour this morning. The valuables were in a fire-proof safe and these were not lost, but all the other stock of the store was completely destroyed.

A shoemaker who sleeps in the narrow space between the store of Mr. Langley and the adjacent building, narrowly escaped being burned up, as he was not aroused until after the engines had reached the scene. It took some moments to impress him with the fact that his speedy exit was necessary as he understood but imperfectly what was said to him.

BAILIFF IS HELD UP

Bailiff Lancaster, of Judge Dodgins' court, was held up at about 12 o'clock last night by two negroes, at Luckie and Magnolia streets. The larger of the negroes had two half-bricks in his hand and commanded the bailiff to hold up his hands, threatening that if he failed to do so he would knock him in the head with the brick. The bailiff quickly drew his pistol and fired at the negroes. Turning, they ran down Magnolia street, closely followed by the bailiff. Plain Clothes Officers Brandon and Norris joined in the chase and pursued the footpads down Magnolia, across Marietta into Hobo Hollow, where all trace of them was lost. The officers are on the trail of the negroes, and it is expected that their arrests will soon follow.

CUTTING SCRAPE LAST NIGHT

Two young men, J. M. Webb and Phil Goddis, were engaged in a difficulty at 207 1-2 Peters street last night, shortly before midnight. As a result of the fight Goddis was cut in the back of the neck and in his mouth, while Webb was struck in the back of the head with a beer bottle as he went out the door. It was impossible to learn the circumstances of the fight, so six women of the house were arrested and will tell the judge what they know of the matter this afternoon.

FOR THE STATES HARMON SPEAKS

Former Attorney General Fears Encroaching Federal Power

STATES MUST KEEP POWERS

Harmon Says the States Are Abundantly Able to Deal With the Corporations—He Has No Sympathy With the Attacks on Wealth.

Norfolk, Va., September 11.—The celebration today of Ohio state day at the Jamestown exposition was one of the greatest features in the exposition's history. There were hundreds of visitors from the Buckeye state, including Governor Harris, with Judson Harmon, of Cincinnati, former attorney general of the United States, orator of the day.

One of the principal musical features was an original ode by Miss Anne Pratt Worthington, great-granddaughter of Governor Thomas Worthington, the first United States senator from Ohio, whose home, "Adena," has been reproduced as Ohio's state building at the exposition.

Following the exercises at the auditorium, the Ohio party tendered an official dinner at the Swiss village.

This afternoon's feature was a military parade.

The Ohio building was opened from 1 to 4 p. m. for a public reception. The official state reception by Governor and Mrs. Harris took place from 8 to 10 p. m.

Harmon for Home Rule.

Mr. Harmon, discussing the formation of the government, said in part:

"The principle of local self-government or home rule was too important and too deep-seated in the hearts of the people of all the states to be yielded, or even qualified further than was necessary to create a lasting federal union. More than a century was to pass before anybody would suggest that the general government has imperial powers and may acquire and hold territory for its own aggrandizement without regard to present or prospective admission as new states.

"Home rule means a government created and carried on at home by home agencies which are thus never out of touch with the people.

"More than a century of experience under this dual form of government has proved its fitness and sufficiency for the needs of our people. In each state they have built up and carry on for themselves institutions under which protection, justice, education and public conveniences are provided and civil rights defined and secured. Those who they entrust with the making and enforcement of laws are chosen by themselves from their own number and act under their own hand and eye. And they have at the same time a voice in the conduct by the general government of the foreign and general affairs committed to it.

States Must Keep Power.

"They know that authority once surrended or qualified is never regained, no matter how bitter the regret. They have learned that encroaching power is sometimes well meant and always strews its path with attractive present benefits. And they have that sovereign virtue of a free people—patience to endure for a time, if need be, while they work out through their own agencies the difficulties which changing circumstances are ever presenting.

"They are sure they better than others can control without crippling the corporations they create and fix the conditions on which those created by other sovereignties may do business within their borders. And they are not willing to yield the right to do this to any other power, or to have it qualified save by the condition, to which they have given irrevocable consent, that they must act justly with respect to rights lawfully acquired.

No War on Honest Wealth.

"It is a matter of no personal interest to me because my aim in life has never been to amass wealth, but I am not taken with the idea of seeking to limit by law the acquisition of fortunes. The smallest fortune is too great if it be dishonestly or unfairly gained. With laws so framed as not to impose unnecessary charges on the people which operate to give some advantage over others, and with laws impartially enforced to prevent unfair methods and corrupt practices, no fortunes will be "swollen," which implies unnatural and perverted growth.

"Nor with our well tested system of inheritance and restriction of entailments will fortunes long remain in unworthy hands; while fair gotten wealth has neither temptation nor occasion to seek illicit favors from officials who make and enforce the laws. And in our free country every man who thinks happiness lies in wealth has the right to get as rich as he honestly can. All we should demand is that he shall not increase his gains by withholding from the laborer his just reward or adding hardships to his lot, nor by depriving others of their gains by unfair competition. And he must bear his due share of the expenses of the government which protect him in pursuit and possession.

Let States Decide.

"The people of each state can best decide for themselves, from time to time, what measures to adopt and judge their operation and effect. They can better and more promptly correct or change them to suit their case, as trial may suggest. And each state will have the benefit of the experience of the other states as well as its own. If a measure prove wise, it will promptly be adopted wherever conditions require it. If it prove unwise, the less scope it has the better."

Largest Attendance in History.

Griffin, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—The Griffin public schools have the largest attendance ever known in their history. The enrollment is so large that new teachers will have to be secured and several rooms added to the present buildings. The school system is in charge of Professor C. B. Matthews, as superintendent. He has a fine corps of teachers, and the schools are well organized, though crowded for room.

DRUNKENNESS DEBATED BY A WORLD CONGRESS

Impressions of the International Conference at Stockholm, Which Discussed Best Method of Fighting Alcoholism.

Stockholm, August 20.—(Special Correspondence.)—The eleventh International Congress against Drunkenness has just closed. For a week the delegates, with rare good faith and patience, have attended meetings—morning, noon and night—in the "aula," or central hall of the great boys' high school and the adjoining gymnasium. Wintry winds and leaden skies with frequent downpours of rain have prevailed for three days, but the sun is shining on the eve of our departure. Here on the shore of the Baltic, amidst the rocky hills of lovely Saltsjobaden to which Swedish hospitality has brought us in four steamers from Stockholm, there is a chance of clearing the brain and disentangling ideas from amidst the polyglot of tongues. This little island-studded inland sea is en fete. The Swedish flag is flying everywhere and our road is garlanded with flowers. Quaint wooden houses are perched on blocks of granite standing high above the water against a background of firs and pines. These islands are sacred to summer rest, the Myaginia of the Swedish inland sea. It is a gracious compliment to make foreign guests welcome here. Indeed, this gathering has been a temperance congress and something more. In the best sense it has been an international peace congress. A cause which brings together upwards of 1,200 men and women of varied nationality, party and creed, but united in one aim, must make for peace. Enthusiasm for an ideal does more to solve international differences than dubious discussions on methods of warfare. The thought which underlies this ideal is clearly defined in the argument "drunkenness and its effects are the curse of the human race, therefore, while not ignoring secondary causes, unceasing warfare must be waged against the obvious and common foe."

Language Difficulties.

The delegates belong to the following nationalities: 150 Germans, 25 Britons, 18 French, 31 Swiss, 16 Americans, 75 Austrians and Hungarians, 14 Norwegians, 28 Danes, 46 Finns, 19 Russians, 21 Dutch, 7 Belgians, 2 Rumanians, 4 Italians and 2 Servians, while the sum total is made up of people from all parts of Sweden. The respective continental and American governments have on previous occasions sent delegates, and this year their number is reinforced by a British government delegate, Dr. Branthwaite, inspector of inebriate asylums. While the English-speaking delegates are representing larger associations of persons interested in temperance reform, the continental delegates have taken the more prominent place in the discussions. The whole week German has been the chief medium of intercourse. The Scandinavians, Russians and Finlanders speak German with extraordinary fluency, and as a matter of course official papers and programs have been printed to suit the majority. The British and Americans, with few exceptions, have ventured on no language but their own, and hence, to some extent, have found themselves in an isolated position.

When Esperanto becomes a compulsory subject in every European and American school, the pains of "proud isolation" will cease and "ententes cordiales" will flourish without the need for preliminary diplomatic negotiations.

The president of the congress, his royal highness, Prince Gustavus Adolphus, to the delight of British, gave the inaugural address in excellent English. Accompanied by his two uncles, Prince Oscar Bernadotte and Prince Eugene, he attended the opening session in the Emmanuel Free church. In the afternoon, in the absence of the king, the three princes received the delegates with charming cordiality at a garden party. The interest taken by the Swedish royal family in moral reform is most marked. The princes really understand the people. It is the custom in this land of good manners and simple ways for the royal girls and boys to attend the same schools as the common people. Prince Gustavus Adolphus' young wife, Princess Margaret of Connaught, has won her way into all hearts, and is herself a member of the Swedish Women's Total Abstinence Society. The effect of such an example is seen in the societies for total abstinence formed amongst army officers, university students, and public school boys and girls.

Characteristics of the Congress

The predominant characteristics of the congress have been its earnestness, cordiality, and devotion to detailed study. Not a single note of discord has been struck. Indeed, to British delegates accustomed to the somewhat commonplace round of the ordinary temperance conference, the proceedings of this international gathering came as a pleasant surprise. While humanitarian and moral considerations have been by no means ignored, the scientific aspect of the question has held a first place.

These young continental societies are abreast with the spirit of the times. They take no a priori statement for granted. The wit and wisdom of the past must be subjected to strict scientific tests. With a patience and care which merit high respect they are studying alcohol and alcoholism as thoroughly as other scientists study the plague germ. Twenty medical men and a number of university professors took part. Amongst the most noteworthy contributions were those of Professors Helenius and Laitneu, of Helsingfors, and Professor Farel, of Chigny-pres-Morges.

Professor Latineu, who left for London to attend the congress of hygiene, gave a most illuminating paper on alcohol and race deterioration. He has for years been making investigations, and reported his latest results. For eight months he has been dosing a certain number of guinea pigs and rabbits with minute quantities of alcohol, and has instituted comparisons between them and similar animals supplied with nonalcoholized water. The difference between the size and disease-resisting powers of the progeny of these two classes of animals is remarkable. The amount of alcohol given is in strict proportion to the size and weight of the animal, and is equivalent to a glass each day of Finnish beer to a fully grown Finlander. Professor Farel's paper on alcohol and sexual questions was a fitting complement to that of Professor Laitineu. With good taste and fearlessness he faced some of those present-day problems which must be solved if the Aryan race is to hold its own in the world.

The continent of Europe may have awakened late in the day to the evils of alcoholism, but this congress has been a revelation to the British delegates of the keen intellects which are delving into the many ramifications of the subject. On the political side, the delegates from the United States made out a strong case for prohibition as opposed to the system of high license.

The Gothenburg System.

Professor Helenius, leader of the social democratic party in the Finnish parliament and a personal investigator of American methods, announced that he believed the prohibition of the manufacture, import and sale of alcoholis drink would be carried during the forthcoming session. Nine-tenths of the members of parliament are in favor, including the nineteen women returned at the last election under adult suffrage.

One of the most animated discussions centered round the Gothenburg Public House Company system. During the week many delegates have made a round of the houses, and their working was subjected to pretty severe criticism. Even its Swedish advocates and promoters admit that it is far from perfect. They generally assume that in theory it is excellent, in practice most faulty. Many Swedes, however, opposed the system altogether. Notable among these was Mr. Ulrich, mayor of Saeter. He held it to be a hollow sham and an utter failure. His own town is in revolt against the Bolag and is about to veto the sale of all drink.

The German delegates seemed to be divided in opinion, the English and American were all opposed to company management. At the great demonstration held by the people of Stockholm on Sunday in Skausen park, resolutions were carried in favor of reforming their faulty liquor system.

The very hearty invitation conveyed by the dean of Hereford and the Hon. Mrs. Eliot York, in the name of the archbishop of Canterbury and many other well known people, to visit London for the congress in 1909 has been accepted with enthusiasm and unanimity.

HENRIETTA CROSSMAN GASHED ON THE HEAD BY BROADSWORD

New York, September 11.—In the duel scene in the second act of the new play, "The Christian Pilgrim," now rehearsing at the Hudson theater, Henrietta Crossman, failing to guard herself properly, was struck on the head with a broadsword in the hands of a member of the company. Miss Crossman got a scalp wound half an inch long. The rehearsal was abandoned. Miss Crossman was able to go unassisted to her home. Preparations for the play have been postponed for several days.

Artist Gets His Mother to Remain With Affinity.

New York, September 11.—Ferdinand Pinney Earle, whose unique matrimonial arrangements have brought him notoriety, returned to his home in Monroe late yesterday. He was accompanied by his mother. The village people made no attempt to disturb him, but his homecoming is a fruitful subject of discussion among the people today.

Earle declined to discuss his affairs any further at present, but another defensive statement credited to Miss Julia Kutner, the young woman Earle intends to marry, is published today.

Presbyterian College Ready.

Anniston, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—Things are beginning to show signs of life at the Alabama Presbyterian college this week. Several boarding pupils have already arrived and quite a number are expected today and tomorrow. Dr. McIlwain is very much encouraged with regard to opening prospects, the enrollment for this year promising to be a substantial increase over anything the college has yet had. Examinations and classifications are going on today and will continue through tomorrow, the regular school work beginning Thursday.

BUNCH OF MONEY STOLEN BY CLERK

Tax Payers of New Orleans Robbed of at Least $107,000

NO TRACE OF MISSING CLERK

Officials Say That the Shortage May Reach $200,000—It Is Said That Letten Has Been Stealing the Taxes for Four Years.

New Orleans, La., September 11.—A defalcation in state tax collections, which the police tonight announced amounted to at least $107,000 and might reach $200,000, was discovered today in the books of Charles E. Letten, chief clerk to John Fitzpatrick, state tax collector of the first district of New Orleans. Mr. Fitzpatrick, who was formerly mayor of New Orleans, has announced that he will make good whatever the shortage may be.

Letten, who is 55 years old, for 19 years had been one of the most trusted men in the department. Up to tonight the police had not been able to get a trace of what was done with the missing money.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, after examining the books, said the shortage appeared to have begun four years ago and to have been hidden by using delinquent taxes and the current year taxes to cover up the deficit of the previous year. Four days ago Mr. Fitzpatrick called for the final statement of the 1906 taxes earlier than his chief clerk had prepared to make it.

Letten worked with Mr. Fitzpatrick two days helping prepare this statement, and yesterday suddenly left the office under the plea that he must see a doctor. Mr. Fitzpatrick found that Letten had not gone to the doctor, and immediately opened the chief clerk's desk, the revelations following.

This is the third defalcation in six months in the Louisiana state tax department, the two previous shortages totaled nearly $100,000, and today, for the second time there is no clew to the whereabouts of the missing official.

COURIER-JOURNAL IS AGAIN

Endangered by Fire, and Loss This Time Is $25,000.

Louisville, September 11.—Fire which broke out late this afternoon for a second time endangered the plants of The Courier-Journal and Times, threatening to destroy that portion of The Courier-Journal office building left intact after the disastrous fire of ten days ago. The flames were brought under control with a loss of $25,000. The Times was forced to abandon its last edition. The editorial rooms were rendered untenable, but the pressroom and composing room, although partially flooded, will be used to get out the regular issue of The Courier-Journal tomorrow morning. The origin of the fire, which, like the first one, broke out on the top floor of the building, is unknown.

Lumber Mill Is Destroyed.

Albany, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) Fire early this morning destroyed the smaller of the two lumber mills of the Red Cypress Lumber company at Pretoria, in this county. The cypress mill was not damaged, and its operations will not be interrupted, but the pine mill was completely destroyed, together with a considerable quantity of lumber. The loss is $15,000 and is protected by insurance to the extent of three-fourths that amount. It is understood the mill will be rebuilt.

Morgan Pays for Paving.

New York, September 11.—Having failed to induce the city officials to repave the block opposite his home in accord with his idea, J. Pierpont Morgan has determined to pay for the work out of his own pocket. Mr. Morgan's check for $1,200 which is the sum the city's paving experts have figured out that it will cost to repave the block, has beeen sent to the city authorities, and it is probable that his request will be granted.

USED FORTY GRAINS GUM OPIUM DAILY

DID NOT THINK HE COULD BE CURED.

Saw an Advertisement and Obtained a Free Sample of a Cure, and Just One Bottle Enabled Him to Reduce His Addiction to Eight Grains Daily. His Cure Will Be Completed in a Short Time.

Many persons who have fallen victims to the seductive influence of opium, morphine, cocaine and other narcotic drug addictions continue in the habit and allow their lives to be spent in this miserable servitude because they do not believe there is hope for them.

Mr. Henry C. Reynolds, McMinnville, Tenn., at the age of 50 used gum opium until he was using 40 grains every twenty-four hours. He happened to read of the wonderful results that were being obtained by the use of the James Treatment and persuaded himself to give it a trial and sent for a free trial bottle, which only lasted him four days. After taking the trial bottle, Mr. Reynolds wrote as follows: "I hope you will excuse me for not writing to you sooner, but I have been under my family physician for some time and he would not permit me to use your medicine until I got better. I have taken it, however, and now I want to say to you that it is doing me more good than any other medicine I have ever tried. I was taking 40 grains of gum opium every twenty-four hours and now I do not take but 8 grains every twenty-four hours. I am sure that if I had more of the medicine it would cure me, etc."

We have printed many testimonials from patients who were completely cured at home by the use of our home remedies and we only print the above letter in order to convince skeptics that a cure is possible, and that any drug user can be greatly benefited by ordering a free sample bottle. A patient does not have to use any of his accustomed drug whatever in connection with the trial bottle. Any person addicted to the habitual use of narcotic drugs of any description can, by writing to Charles B. James, 133 Popular street, Memphis, Tenn., proprietor of the largest and most successful sanitorium in the world for the cure of drug and alcoholic addictions, obtain a free sample bottle which will be sent under perfectly plain cover to any address, also literature containing testimonials from many cured patients and endorsements of statesmen, physicians, lawyers, ministers and many others.

By filling out the following blank any drug user can obtain a free trial bottle of the James Home Treatment for drug addictions:

Charles B. James, Memphis, Tenn. Please send to my address, postpaid, a free trial bottle for patient using (state number of grains here)..... grains of (state kind of drug here) .....each 24 hours. State here if used by mouth or hypodermically..... .....

CROP IS OFF JUST ONE-THIRD

Commissioner Wilkinson States Cotton Still Remains Very Inactive.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—In a statement, given out today Commissioner of Agriculture Wilkinson says the cotton crop has fallen off every day since August 25 and if the crop is not very active from now and should frost overtake it, it will not yield more two-thirds of an average. Being very late and the fertilizers pretty well worked out, the hot winds after the rains made bad havoc with the output.

He believes that with an average crop the farmers should have at least 15 cents and certainly with the falling off that much will be received.

SOUTHERN BOOKS WILL BE PROBED

Council for North Carolina to Examine Accounts of Railway.

GOV. GLENN IS SATISFIED

He Says Evidence Has Been Favorable to the State, and That It Will Win—The Roads Are Abundantly Able to Stand Reduction.

Washington, D. C., September 11.—Over the protest of counsel for the state of North Carolina, in the rate case being heard by Standing Master Montgomery as the representative of Judge Pritchard, of the United States circuit court, next Wednesday, September 18, was fixed as the day to begin the examination of books of the Southern railway. Judge Montgomery declined to modify his ruling, as outlined informally yesterday, and the formal order issued today provides that the complainant produce before him at the office of A. H. Plant, comptroller of the railway, "all the books, papers and documents pertinent to, and bearing upon the issues raised in this proceeding," to be opened to the inspection of the defense under the supervision of the standing master; the books, documents and papers to be in the custody of the comptroller or other officer whose business it is to keep the books.

Order for the Books.

In his formal order Judge Montgomery said that "the language and intent of the motion can mean nothing else that that the standing master, by his order, turn over to the attorneys of the defendants and an accountant of their own selection the books, documents and papers of the complainant, without any legal limitation or other restraint. The standing master refuses to take that action."

Speaker Justice announced that if the standing master did not intend to restrict the examination; the order is satisfactory. General Counsel Thom, for the Southern railway, said that he did not object to any inspection of the books on matters pertaining to the case.

Judge Montgomery announced that he could see no reason for making any change in his order; and he declined to hear arguments that the time fixed was too early to give the state opportunity to secure a good accountant.

D. W. Lum, engineer of maintenance of way and construction, when the hearing was begun today, testified it would cost $55,000,000 to reproduce the properties in North Carolina operated by the Southern Railway. L. Green, freight traffic manager, furnished supplementary figures. The hearing was then closed so far as the Southern Railway is concerned in the introduction of testimony in the support of its claim that the new rate law in North Carolina is confiscatory.

Gov. Glenn Says State Will Win.

Governor R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, arrived here today and had a conference with the attorneys for the state engaged in the taking of testimony in the rate hearing affecting the Southern railroad. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the conduct of the case and the cross examination by the state's attorneys, which he said, developed facts that would be material to the state. He thought that North Carolina would win out in the controversy. Experts, he added, had been at work, in North Carolin getting up evidence and they will begin the examination of witnesses next week. He declared that the roads operating in North Carolina were abundantly able to stand the reducton and he was confident of the outcome.

Governor Glenn will leave here tomorrow morning for Atlantic City, N. J.

TWO-CENT FARE FOR ROME ROAD

That Was Intention of Georgia Railroad Commission.

Fares on the Rome railroad, sixteen miles long, from Kingston to Rome, should be 2 cents.

Commissioner H. Warner Hill, chairman of the railroad commission of Georgia when circular No. 334 was issued naming the reduced rates in Georgia, stated that it was the intention of the commission to have the Rome railroad, operated as a part of the state road, to be amenable to the 2-cent rate chrged by the state road.

"We did not overlook it or forget it," said Commissioner Hill, "but did not mention it specifically because it was operated as a part of the state road and was owned by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, the lessees of the state road."

Counsel for the N., C. & St. L. have made the point with the commission that the Rome railroad is an independent short line owned by the N., C. & St. L. and not connected, financially, with the state road and therefore should be the subject of a special order if it is not allowed to charge the regular 3 cents a mile passenger fare.

COL. ROBT. R. FLEMING DIES.

Prominent Citizen of Washington Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

Washington, September 11.—Colonel Robert I. Fleming, one of Washington's prominent citizens, died today at his suburban home, "Oak View," Cleveland park, of Bright's disease. He was 65 years old, a native of Virginia, and served during the civil war as a member of the Richmond Fayette artillery and an officer in Lee's army. Soon after the war he came to Washington. He bought "Oak View" after its occupancy as a summer residence by residence by President Grover Cleveland. Colonel Fleming is survived by a wife and a daughter, Madame Corea, wife of the minister from Nicaragua, and a son, Robert V. Fleming.

FALLS NINETY FEET TO DEATH.

Negro Was on Rigging of Schooner. Missed His Footing.

Savannah, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Gtorge Dixon, a negro, fell 90 feet to death from the rigging of the schooner Josephine this morning. Dixon was sent aloft to repair some of the rigging of the schooner, which is discharging coal, and in some manner he missed his footing and fell. Some of the men on the schooner heard his cry as he started to fall and looking up saw him with outstretched arms, trying to grab something to save himself. He was unsuccessful and a moment later was dashed to death in an almost shapeless mass on the deck of the vessel.

SOUTHERNERS ARE NOT PLEASED

With Treatment Received at Convention of Lumbermen.

Savannah, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Savannahans who attended the lumber convention held in Philadelphia who returned today say that the southern lumbermen got the short end of every question that came up. The Southerners, according to to the Savannahans, were particularly aggrieved because of the attitude of the New York and Baltimore representatives of the trade.

Tested It.
(From The Chicago News.)

"Willie," said the boy's mother, who was preparing to go out, "you mustn't eat that cake in the pantry while I'm gone. It will make you sick."

Three hours later when she returned Willie said: "You didn't know what you were talking about, mamma. That cake didn't make me sick a bit."

SEABOARD WILL NOT ENTER SUIT

Will Abide by the Order of the Railroad Commission.

Up to date no suit for injunction has been filed by the Seaboard Air Line against the railroad commission of Georgia, and it is now understood that none will be in so far as the reduced passenger fare circular is concerned.

This information was given out at the capitol by General Watt, general counsel for the road, who stated that although President Garrett wished to contest the circular the owners of the road decided not to and that no contest would result. With the possible exception of the A. B. & A. the Seaboard Air Line is the only big system in the state which has accepted the orders without a demurrer. All of the other big roads in the state with the exception of the state road, which it is understood will soon file a suit, have entered a protest against this circular.

State Fair Rates.

It is reported that the Southern and Seaboard Air Line will be the only two roads entering Atlanta which will grant reduced rates to the state fair.

It had been previously reported that the Western and Atlantic and the Atlanta and West Point would not offer a lower rate, already being in the two-cent-a-mile class, and now it is stated that the Central of Georgia and the Georgia railroad will also decline. The passenger men in session Tuesday put the question of fair rates up to each road and took no concerted action on the subject.

The passenger men did not meet yesterday morning as they had appointed, but delayed the routine matters for a future meeting. The rate clerks are now at work on the interline rates, and they will soon be published for the benefit of the traveling public.

Appointments Made.

Coincident with the meeting of the passenger men in Atlanta a number of changes in the passenger departments of the various roads came out. Chief among these was the appointment of F. R. McMillan, formerly city passenger agent of the Southern at Jacksonville, to be city passenger agent in Atlanta vice J. L. Hunt, who has resigned to become traveling passenger agent for the Central of Georgia with headquarters in Columbus. Mr. McMillan was formerly voucher clerk in the office of Brooks Morgan, from whence he went to Columbus, to be promoted to the Jacksonville office.

A World of Wealthy Women.

The new club house of the Colony Club, of New York, an imposing colonial structure, costing all told a half-million dollars and architecturally like unto a delightful old New England tavern, is altogether unprecedented in the club woman's world on this side of this Atlantic.

A tempingly equipped cuisine is offered to satisfy the cosmopolitan tastes of a membership of nearly one thousand women, who willingly part with the unmatched fees of $150 for initiation and $100 annual dues—to say nothing of gilt-edged prices for every service after one officially arrives, so to speak. The scene at the door is perpetually animated. From early morn until midnight, crested automobiles turn in at the curb, and the courtly attendant in colonial livery of blue and buff ushers a constant stream of arrivals into this delightful retreat says The September Delineator. Sitting in the small reception room at the side, one gets a series of kaleidoscopic impressions of the life of this original club. Probably Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, saunters in for a plunge into the white marble pool, or Mrs. John Jacob Astor for an athletic turn or two in the gymnasium, or Mrs. Clarence Mackay for a short rest in the reading room, or Miss Jeanette Gilder accompanies Miss Maude Adams for a comforting cup of tea after their professional duties.

THEY MUST PAY COURT EXPENSE

Says Spalding Grand Jury to the County Commissioners.

Griffin, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—At the closing of the Spalding superior court Tuesday evening, a senstion was sprung when it was learned that the grand jury had recommended that the county commissioners pay the expenses of the last term of the city court, but that no further court be held until the supreme couht has passed on the mooted points in the city court bill recently passed by the legislature, and that fines be held up till that time.

The commissioners had previously held up pay to the jurors, witnesses, and bailiffs, until the supreme court renders a decision in a test case carried up from the last day's session of the city court.

The grand jury also recommended that a general election be held for local school taxation, and the sheriff was censured by that body for extravagance in the manner of conducting courts in this county.

Undiplomatic.
(From The San Francisco Chronicle.)

It was a quiet afternoon in the emergency ward at the Little Palace hotel. George, the head nurse, who dispenses first aid to the suffering, was greeting Gus, who had dropped in from the Fairmount to exhibit his new straw hat.

"I think it's a peauty," remarked George approvingly. "Dollar and a half?"

"Und more 'an that," replied Gus proudly. "Two dollars."

"I dell you, Gus, I am a good friend to you; may be some Sunday you lend it to me, eh? I like to call on Judge Cook by his ranch in Sonoma county."

"Und may be you break it, eh?"

"Den I bay you what it's worth."

"Pay me $2?"

"Oh, no; it's second-hand hat after you wear it. I pay you $1, Gus."

"You pay me noding. I doan lend that hat."

NEW SCHOOLS FOR ALABAMA

Auditor Makes Up Statemen of Funds Available for Education.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—According to an estimate made by the state auditor's chief clerk, Judge J. T. Cook, the amount of money for the public schools for the scholastic year beginning October 1, will be $1,533,636.85. This is an estimate and does not include the poll tax which will make about $118,000, the local tax in forty-two counties and the various supplemental funds, good for half a million more, so that tht total is to be well up above $2,000,000.

The statement made up by the auditor and sent to the superintendent of education contains the following items, showing source of income:

Unappropriated balance	$ 5,228 84
Special school tax	1,069,920 63

NEW SCHOOL HOUSES.

There has been a new rural school house built or repaired with state aid for every day since the rural school house bill of the last legislature became a law. In all 134 houses have been erected or repaired during that time, help for each of them in varying amounts being extended by the state. The bill gives $1,000 to each county for rural school houses. So far only Lauderdale, Escambia and Marion have taken up the full amount.

The state has paid out for this work for four and a half months the sum of $22,902, which indicatts an expenditure of $70,000 for school houses in the rural districts during that time. At least one dollar is put in for every dollar the state gives, and in most of the cases five and ten and twenty to one. This shows that the rural territory is taking much interest in the building of schools and the development of education.

Daniel Water For the Stomach

Daniel Mineral Water acts gently upon the Liver, keeps the digestion healthy, and thus lessens the danger of malarial and other fevers. The mineral ingredients it contains keep the Stomach toned up and the Kidneys flushed, thereby safely overcoming or entirely avoiding the diseases peculiar to the sickly summer season.

For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, and all Stomach, Bladder or Intestinal troubles, Daniel Water is far superior to any on the market. It is an alkaline—not a salt or sulphur water. Is pleasant, palatable and light, and its good effects upon the general health are noticeable from the beginning of its use.

If you are in doubt about the water you are drinking and want an absolutely pure spring water, order a case of Daniel Water and avoid all danger of taking into your system the germs of Typhoid and other dangerous fevers.

A UNIQUE AGGREGATION BEFORE "JEDGE BRILES"

"Jedge Briles" had an unusually unique aggregation yesterday morning at his police matinee.

Nearly every case tried had some remarkable feature, whether it came from Darkton or from some other less noted district.

"There is one thing very curious about this court," remarked Recorder Broyles to his clerk, "and that is we either have all unique cases or all hardly worthy of notice. Then again we have special runs when there are all either negro women, negro men, white men or white women. This morning we are having a fine run of rare curiosities."

"You are eminently correct, your honor," replied the blond clerk, as he puckered his red mustache until it rested against his nose.

An Aged Combination.

There was Joe Grinnette, an aged negro, who was the owner of an aged mule. When the mule got so he could scarcely walk alone the aged negro conceived the idea of getting somebody else to work him, and he turned the aged mule over to Harrison Holt, a guileless and unsophisticated negro from Darkton. Officer Hollingsworth caught Holt with the mule hitched up and stalled, of course.

When asked what he meant by trying to work such an ancient decrepit, stove-up, spavined remains of a mule in its dotage, the aged negro replied:

"Jes' tryin' ter git er leetle money ter pay for 'dat mule's feed, boss."

"The cost of the mule's feed, judging from his appearance," stated the recorder, "wouldn't amount to 10 cents a year."

Grinnettee and Holt were fined $10.75 each and the mule consigned to the bone-yard.

A Five-Cent Bluff.

Carrie Butts, a lily of Hel's Half Acre's Vanity Fair, when shadowed by a policeman, who was trying to arrest her for vagrancy, dodged into a store and when caught was trying to buy five cents worth of cheese cloth just for a bluff. The recorder fined her $3.75 and advised her to go to work.

Had a Biting Match.

Jack Reed, a drayman, and Robert Cole, who works for a pressing club, were arraigned for having engaged in a biting contest. As expressed to the recorder, "it was no time for first work, but it was which could outbite the other?"

Cole had a piece of his ear nipped off and several mouthfuls of wool missing, while Reed had his lower lip nearly off and one tooth gone. The biting match grew out of a dispute over which was making the most money. The recorder fined each $5.75.

Wanted To Ride in Auto.

Fred Cole, a white man, who has been before Judge Briles many times for being too full of "oh-to-be-joyful," pleaded guilty to another offense. Officer Thompson, who made the arrest, said:

"Cole was quiet, but tried his best to get me to ride him to the police barracks in an automobile instead of the patrol wagon. I couldn't accommodate him, and he wept like a child."

The recorder gave Cole the regulation fine of $3.75 for a quiet and trimless drunk.

Had the Right of Way.

C. M. Cutlidge, a white man, who said he had tanked up because he felt melancholy about the approach of prohibition, was found by Officer Chiles on Whitehal street Tuesday afternoon making such a zig-zag promenade that people had to give him the entire sidewalk. As he swung down the street, Cutlidge threw out his arms in a wild gesticulation to let those know whom he met that he was coming and wanted the right of way. He was fined $5.75.

Way To Live and Not Work.

Alonzo Chapman, who had been working for the Morrow Transfer Commany, discovered a way in which to live without working. He stopped driving his team, and after loafing a day or two, called at the transfer company's commissary and bought a lot of goods upon the statement that he was still at work and putting in full time. He carried the goods home and loafed some more. He was having a great time, when an officer arrested him.

The recorder fined Alonzo $50.75, which meant thirty days in the city chaingang.

He Popped His Fingers.

Charlie Carson, a white youth, was arraigned because he had been seen shooting dice in a Decatur street wagon yard. A witness testified that he saw Carson and another young man with the dice, and Carson was manipulating the bones.

"I was just playing with the bones," stated Carson to the recorder. "I never fooled with dice before in my life, and wanted to see how they felt."

"I saw him pop his fingers every time he threw the dice," stated the witness.

"Did you pop your fingers?" the recorder asked Carson, and the prisoner admitted that he did.

"Then I know you are guilty," said the recorder; but he let Carson go on his promise never to shoot dice and pop his fingers again.

PUBLIC CANNOT BE IGNORED.

Corporations Can't Afford, Says Gary, of the Steel Trust.

New York, September 11.—Ex-Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, who has just returned from a two months' vacation abroad, in speaking of the movement for the improvement of the steel rail, said that the commission of experts appointed to consider the subject would probably report in two or three weeks. He said it would be found that the steel manufacturers and the railroad companies would make every effort to adopt a standard that would ensure safety of the public.

"The time has gone past," continued Judge Gary, "for the great corporations to ignore the public and the public interest. 'The public be damned policy,' if that phrase was ever actually used, will not go in these days. The heads of our great industrial enterprises can never adopt that attitude, not alone as a matter of policy, but in the interest of their own undertakings. There has been a great change of late years in the attitude of corporations toward the public and their employes."

BLUE VETERANS LIMP IN PARADE

Grand Army of the Republic In Camp at Saratoga.

BLAZE OF NATIONAL COLORS

Saratoga Profusely Decorated in Honor of Veterans—Significant of Failing Strength of Veterans Was Reduction of Parading Distance.

Saratoga, N. Y., September 11.—Martial music, the old-time war tunes to which the soldiers of the civil war had marched in many campaigns, awakened Saratoga at an early hour today, the day of the parade of the veterans who are attending the national encampment of the Grand Army now in session here. It was expected that 10,000 paraders would be in line and the weather, which has been unfavorable in the early morning, gave promise of brightening before the hour scheduled for the start.

Significant of the failing strength of the veterans was the fact that the parading distance was reduced to one mile—the shortest ever fixed by the national encampment. For the first time the parade was limited to members of the Grand Army instead of being open to all survivors of the war.

The village was ablaze with the national colors, covering the fronts of buildings, swung at every convenient point, strung in rows at short intervals across the streets and completely covering the interior of the great convention hall where the sessions of the encompment were held. The parade itself was scheduled to begin at 2 p. m., but seemed certain to be much later in starting and to last until late in the day.

One of the features of the parade was the presence of a big flag which covered the body of General Grant on its way from Mount McGregor to the tomb.

The national officers, in carriages, with Governor Charles E. Hughes, of this state, led the line, the chief of staff in command being J. Cary Winans, of Toledo.

The day's program began with a reception at Congress hall, the New York state headquarters, in honor of Governor Hughes, at 11:30.

At 12:30 luncheon was served by the department of New York to the governor, Commander-in-Chief Brown and his staff, past national officers, department commanders and the other distinguished guests. Meanwhile there had been reunions of the various organiations.

The real business of the convention will begin tomorrow.

RELICS OF AN UNKNOWN RACE

Discovered in Ecuador by Professor of Columbia University.

New York, September 11.—M. H. Saville, professor of ethnology at Columbia university, who has returned from a trip to Ecuador, said he had discovered the ruins of cities near the coast which contained many evidences of a race hitherto unknown to present day scientists.

The professor's researches extended along the Pacific coast about fifty miles to the north and about the same distance to the south of the equator. Somewhere between these points and to a distance about one hundred miles inland he found evidences of a city of antiquity. The city, he said, had streets lined with houses of singular construction. Though the dwellings had been made of light material, a sort of palmetto or thatch, they had been constructed evidently with a view of withstanding the shocks of frequent earthquakes of the region, and were intact. In them were found utensils for cooking and other domestic purposes, made of pottery, wood and the like. He said he believed the city had contained 3,000 or more people, 500 years ago.

In his opinion the race was one of the highest in civilization living in America previous to the coming of Columbus.

Tuscaloosa Schools Open.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Setpember 11.—(Special.)—The Tuscaloosa graded schools opened Monday for the session of 1907-08. The students enrolled all of last week and actual work began yesterday. The number of pupils in both schools was 434. There are quite a number not yet enrolled that will swell this list and make it above anything the school's have ever known. The colored schools have an enrollment of 175.

Female Ills

cause women to fall off in flesh, and make them weak, pale, miserable and "peaked." It is one symptom of female trouble.

Wine of Cardui has been found to tone up their womanly system, so that this drag of disease on the constitution is eased off, and the body resumes its natural buoyancy of health.

With health, of course, comes, to those who have lost flesh, as the result of illness, increase in weight, a better coating of fat over the nerves and better reserve against overwork and waste of energy.

Thousands of too-thin women, who cannot get fat, would undoubtedly find the cause of their lack or loss of flesh to consist very largely of female trouble—a reliable treatment for which, is Wine of Cardui.

WIMBISH ADDED TO LEGAL STAFF

Georgia Railroad Commission Prepares Defense for Circular 334.

It is announced that Attorney W. A. Wimbish, one of the best known counselors in the state and especially strong in the matter of rate litigation, will assist Attorney General Hart and Special Counsel J. K. Hines, of the railroad commission, as will Attorney H. Alexander, in the matter of defending the railroad commission when circular No. 334 is attacked in the federal court by the Central of Georgia on September 16.

These additions to the counsel were announced at the capitol yesterday.

Attorney Wimbish will give his special attention to those cases in he federal court while Attorney Alexander will assist in the state court cases.

The state will file its answers to the federal and state court suits in a few days and will announce "ready" when the cases are called for trial.

THEATERS.

At the Grand.

Charles H. Yale's twenty-sixth edition of the "Devil's Auction" will be presented Friday and Saturday nights with matinee Saturday afternoon, at the Grand. The "Auction" in the history of the stage has almost a phenomenal record. People never seem to tire of it, and men who saw it when they were boys and have seen it a dozen times since, will see one of the performances in Atlanta Friday and Saturday.

It is said that the "Devil's Auction" scenery is fresh from the studio of Mr. Yale in Philadelphia. As a spectacle depends much upon its scenic effects, this item is worthy of notice.

Of course, the same old story will be told in the popular spectacle, but during the action of the piece, many novelties will be presented. This season Manager Yale has secured the Brothers Clemenceau, European musical grotesques, who present one of the most novel acts of the performance. All the old familiar characters will be in capable hands. George M. Topack will be seen as Toby, and his reputation as a comedian promises a splendid representation of this character. Miss Violet Pilsen will appear as Jeannette, the milk maid, and will sing several songs that will prove popular hits. The trick scenery and splendid transformation scenes will make the "Devil's Auction" exceedingly entertaining. The advance sale, which opened a few days ago, promises splendid attendance at all three performances.

At the Orpheum.

When the sale of seats for the first week of vaudeville at the Orpheum opens this morning there should be something of a crowd in line, for there's a free seat coming to each of twenty purchasers. It's something of a gamble, but a good chance.

Ben Kahn, local manager for Weber and Rush, will present a free season ticket to the first purchaser who shoves his money through the box office window, and the money will be framed, with the name of the purchaser, and hung in the foyer as a souvenir of the Orpheum's opening. The management will also give a free season ticket to every tenth purchaser in line up to 200.

There's a good bill promised for the opening next Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher are well-known on the big vaudeville circuits and their sketch, "The Half-way House," is the headliner for the opening week, with the Francellis, wonderful strong men, in a special feature. Eight acts, including comedy, music and Ed Gray's inimitable humor, will complete the bill. The house opens with a matinee on Monday and matinees will be given every day in the season with performances every night.

Pastime Theater.

Time cannot wither or custom stale the infinite variety of acts offered at the home of polite vaudeville in Atlanta, the Pastime theater on Peachtree street. This little playhouse, which played to large audiences during the summer months, is now packing them each evening and playing to overflow houses besides. The program this week is a great hit.

Jean Beaugere, the Parisian character impersonator and lightning change artist, is one of the cleverest in the country. He puts on seventeen acts in as many minutes. His quick changes are something marvelous. He is a winner.

Senorita Mae De Mille, the Spanish dancer, follows in a sensational dance which has created a furore all the week. She is both beautiful and graceful.

Carl and Carl in "Brother Bill's Troubles" have put a whole evening's humor into a twenty-minute sketch. It is a laugh from start to finish.

Spangler and May in a knockabout sketch introduce that famous song, "What is the Use of Loving If You Can't Love all the While?" The bill is closed by Miss Lillian Carl in "When the Violets Whisper, Marie," an illustrated song.

NEW RATES HELP ALABAMA MILLS

Allowing Them to Have Every Advantage Over Outside Factories.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—It is of interest to the cotton growers of the state and the mill men as well that the new rate on cotton to Alabama mills will in all likelihood have a tendency to encourage the erection of factories in the state. It is estimated that it will result in a saving of about 25 cents on each bale, which, on 250,000 bales used every year in the state, will mean a great deal to the profit account.

This will be one of the features of the situation looked after in special way by the Alabama railroad commission in order that the mills of the state may have every advantage in the use of Alabama cotton, the impression being that this will result in the enhancement of the price of cotton raised in the state and at the same time make it possible for Alabama mills to meet competition with other states. As it is now, Alabama will be as well set up as any of them.

At the meeting of the railroad commission next Monday the question of rates to and from the compresses of the state will be taken up and an effort made to work it out to the best interests of all. Clerk Kennedy is of the opinion that the question is one of the most important in the state at this time. He thinks it will bring out a great deal of discussion.

PRINCE WIVIEISCHI KILLED

And Also Chauffeur in an Automobile Accident.

Forli, Italy, September 11.—Prince Wivieischi, of Vienna, now residing at Florence, was killed today as the result of an automobile accident. His car, while going at a high speed, struck on the corner of a house in an attempt to avoid crashing into another automobile. The chauffeur also was killed and three other persons who were in the car were injured.

DESIRE FULL HEARING ON DEMURRAGE QUESTION

In order that the fullest possible hearing may be had by the railroad commission of Georgia on the question of demurrage, which is now being considered by that board, Chairman McLendon has issued a statement to the public requesting that all who have any points on this subject to present to the commission for their consideration will do so.

The address to the public shippers is as follows:

"The act of 1907 repeals the remedial clauses of the act of 1905, but does not take away from the commission the power to promulgate rules governing the question of demurrage. The change in the law is one of great importance, and the question of demurrage which the carrier will be permitted to charge, on the one hand, and the reciprocal demurrage which the shipper is to have the right to demand on the other, is now before the commission. The question of amending and enlarging the present rules governing the subject will be considered at a hearing to be had on the 24th of September, 1907, and it is earnestly desired by the commission that the discussion of this question shall be fully participated in by all parties at interest. S. G. McLENDON,

"Chairman."

The commission went into the consideration of this matter at length on Tuesday, but it was soon seen that the matter was of widespread and general interest, and would require another hearing. With this in view, the commission continued the hearing for two weeks, and will take it up again then.

DECLARE THE BOLL WEEVIL WAS SHIPPED TO GEORGIA

Boll weevil, the most dreaded of all cotton destroying insects, has been shipped from Texas and placed in the growing cotton fields of President Harvie Jordan of the Southern Cotton Association, at his plantation near Monticello, according to a letter received by State Entomologist R. I. Smith, from a member of the boll weevil commission of Texas, on yesterday.

The letter said that the writer had overheard a conversation in Texas in which this fact was stated positively.

Entomologist Smith took the letter to Mr. Jordan and asked if he had received any complaints from his crop on this score.

Mr. Jordan stated that he had not, and it was suggested that the two go and make an examination of the growing crop. Mr. Jordan has left for White Springs, Fla., to hold a convention of the Sea Island Cotton Association, and will join Entomologist Smith there Friday and examine the field for any possible trace of this pest.

"We are not going to take any chances," declared Entomologist Smith, in discussing this matter. "I am going there at once and make a thorough examination of the cotton crops and see if there is any trace. The Georgia crop is too valuable to run any risks in this direction.

"We had a report from Aragon, Ga., this week that seed shipped from Texas to that point contained boll weevils, and I have sent our assistant, Professor W. V. Reed, there, and he is now making an examination to see if he can find any trace of this insect.

"Georgia farmers and Georgia cotton seed product buyers cannot be too careful in the matter of purchasing cotton seed, cotton seed hulls and the like from Texas. There is a great risk in importing them into this state, for there is danger of getting in the boll weevil with them. Cheap cotton seed, out there, is acting as an incentive to import, and in importing Georgia runs the great danger of importing boll weevil too.

"I see that the cotton seed oil mills in South Carolina have refused to buy seed from the west just on this account. Produce dealers, too, are finding that cotton seed hulls furnish an ideal hibernating place for the weevil, and in the spring he comes forth in all his devilment. I shall report on the inspections at Monticello and Aragon in a few days."

NARCOTIC PRESCRIPTIONS DO NOT HAVE TO BE FILED

Druggists are not required to file with ordinaries of their respective counties the prescriptions received for narcotics. Since the anti-narcotic law went into effect, Secretary of State Cook has been bombarded with queries from all parts of the state asking if this was required. One druggist went so far as to state that he had filed quite a number with the ordinary of his county.

In speaking of this matter, Secretary Cook said: "These druggists have confused the anti-narcotic law with the state prohibition law, which goes into effect on January 1. There is nothing that requires these prescriptions to be kept on file in the ordinary's office, but this will be the case with prescriptions for alcoholic beverages after the first of the year.

"The druggist, of course, must keep his prescriptions for these narcotics, but this is sufficient."

POLICE SHOOT NON-UNION MEN

Five Trolley Car Men Are Wounded at 'Frisco.

CLASH DUE TO THE STRIKE

Non-Union Men Began Shooting, Despite Orders From the Police, and the Latter Used Their Revolvers, Bringing Down Five Men.

San Francisco, September 11.—As the result of a clash between the police and the non-union men at work on the street cars, five of the latter were wounded and are now in St. Luke's hospital. The injured: Roy Perkins, conductor; J. J. Cotter, motorman; Harry Cohen, conductor; Frank Smith, conductor.

The trouble occurred when a wrecking car of the United railroads with fifteen men was approaching the car b at the corner of Utah and Twenty-fourth streets. As the car was passing a tent occupied by union pickets stones were thrown at it and shots were fired by some of the car men, but none were hit.

The car continued on its way to the barns, where the crowd had assembled. Some of the men alighted and the trouble began.

Policemen L. Wade, J. Miller and A. Bigelow appeared on the scene and ordered the men not to shoot. It is said that this command was disregarded whereupon the police used their revolvers, five of the car men being wounded. The union pickets who occupied the tent where the disturbance began, say that they were informed that a wrecking crew was going to make an attack on them at the time the car approached.

H. Greene, a non-union car man, was placed under arrest on suspicion of having fired one of the shots.

COLLISIONS TO BE PREVENTED

Fuller's Invention Meets With Success at First.

CROWD SAW DEVICE WORK

By System of Electric Alarms Engineers Will Be Warned of the Approach of Trains on the Same Track—Atlanta Man the Inventor.

Head-on collisions, if an electric device exeemplified by W. R. Fuller yesterday afternoon at Virginia avenue, College Park, hasn't badly fooled a party of expert railroad men who were present, are soon to be among the things of the past.

Inventor Fuller is an Atlantan, born and reared, and while he is now a thorough master of electricity, he is not a graduate of any school wherein the current was taught. Some how he just took naturally to electricity while electricity took kindly to him. When he was eleven years of age he constructed a telegraph line from his home to a store a half mile away and equipped both ends with the necessary batteries. That too was before the current was being used for little else than telegraphy. Since that day Mr. Fuller has been a close observer of electrical progress, and many are the devices he has rigged up at his home and his place of busineess in the shape of alarms and lights.

Like the people of the south generally, Mr. Fuller's attention was attracted by the tragic death of President Spencer of the Southern, up in Virginia. The son of an old railroad man, he knew something of the block system. He knew that it was effective if operators did their duty and the rules governing trains were enforced properly. But he knew, too, that Mr. Spencer's death was due to negligence at some point. Then Mr. Fuller began studying how negligence could be wholly eliminated and the moving of trains be rendered free from danger. That all dangeer could be removed, Mr. Fuller felt certain, and upon that idea he got busy.

And to electricity Mr. Fuller turned for help.

A System of Alarms.

Long ago he had ascertained that the heavy rails upon which the trains move will carry the current just the same as a copper wire. Then it struck him that an alarm might be placed in the cab of an engine and connected with the rail, upon which the engine was moving. It didn't take him long to figure out that if two engines similarly equipped were approaching each other that a current would be set up and that the alarms in both engine cabs would sound. Tests proved to Mr. Fuller that he was right. He knew he had solved the question.

But his tests demonstrated that engines forty miles, a hundred miles apart would each be warned of the approach of the other just as easily as though they were a few miles separated. That was an obstacle to which Mr. Fuller gave hard and diligent study. It was a hard problem.

But as he was thinking the block houses came into his mind and quickly he saw how they could be utilized.

Lines using the block system are equipped with these houses. Some are ten miles apart, others fifteen and others more. At each of the block houses Mr. Fuller broke the current by removing the fish plate and putting between the ends of the rails a piece of rubber. That left stretches of rails reachig from one block house to another linked by the plates, and along which the current would run. Then Mr. Fuller placed a battery on the engineer's seat which was connected with a metal rod extending from the cow catcher to the rail. The end of that rod is of brass.

But in the test made yesterday a copper wire was strung between the rails running parallel with them, and upon this the brass rested. As an engine began moving the alarm in both cabs went off at the same time, as the copper wire was stretched from engine to engine. Subsequently the arm was placed upon the rails and the alarm responded at once.

Shutting Off Current.

When engines are equipped with the Fuller device the rod connected the alarm with the rail will be immediately behind the last driving wheel. Then when there is a single engine between the two block houses, marked by the rubber between the rails, there will be no current and necessarily no alarm. But the minute the second engine comes within that limit the current will be set up and the alarm on both engines will be sounded. If two trains are running todward each other they can move on and one or both get by the block, as was the case with President Spencer's train. But if the Fuller device is there the second the two engines come within the same block—between the two pieces of rubber indicating the boundaries, each engineer will be given notice that he is sure to meet something within a mighty short time if he doesn't come to a halt.

The experiment was made yesterday afternoon in the presence of a number of spectators, several railroad men being present. Satisfactory beyond all doubt was the test to the railroad men. Engineer Conner, who was on one of the ponderous machines, as well as Engineer Jackson, who was on the other, expressed themselves as pleased and satisfied. Superintendent of Transportation W. N. Cox, of the Atlanta and West Point, was a close observer of the test, the engine in use belonging to his road, and that he was pleased there wasn't the slightest doubt, judging by his remarks.

Mr. Fuller is a young man of family. His wife is a daughter of A. P. Morgan, the well known grain man, and he was among those who were pleased with the work. That Mr. Fuller has solved the question of head-on collision seems practically a certainty.

TO START NEW BANK IN MACON

Capital Stock Will be $250,000---Many Prominent Citizens Interested.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) According to statements made by prominent business men, Macon is to have a new national bank, if a project now under way can be brought to materialize in satisfactory manner. People who are acquainted with the enterprise associate the names of W. C. Stevens, E. W. Stetson, Clay Murphy, Joseph W. Neel, M. H. Massee in the party working for the bank's establishment. The capital proposed will be $250,000. Broadus E. Willingham, president of the Willingham cotton mills, of this city, has been asked to head the new institution, but will probably not serve on account of his many pressing duties as a business man.

The promoters are working to secure a new site on the property formerly occupied by Burden, Smith & Company. They propose to erect a new five-story office building and use the ground floor for the home of the bank. The proposition at this time is more than speculative, but at the same time no positive action has been taken other than to start a movement among certain business men with a view to accomplishing the desired end.

Excellent Students' Hall.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Nothing in college life in this state will excel that planned at the new students' hall at Mercer for the coming session. President S. Y. Jameson has personally superintended the placing of furniture and cooking apparatus. The dining hall is furnished in splendid manner and students will be served single meal to the man in the finest of hotel style. The building is furnished throughout with excellent arrangement of furniture. This hall will be conducted in far more desirable manner than the usual students' hall. Plans are being made by Dr. Jameson to provide every possible comfort for the student at the smallest cost.

$5,000 Awarded Mrs. D. N. Lewis.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of Mrs. D. N. Lewis against the Macon Railway and Light Company, awarded the complainant a verdict for $5,000 this morning in the city court. Mrs. Lewis sued for $30,000, charging that she was badly injured. Joseph H. Hall conducted the cast for Mrs. Lewis. She claimed to have sustained her injuries in alighting from a car on the Bellvue line on Huguenin Heights several months ago.

IN ONE WEEK MERCER STARTS

Baylor Landrum and Son of Dr. E. C. Dargan Will Enroll.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Mercer is soon to begin the fall session with the distinction of having enrolled as regular students sons of Dr. W. W. Landrum, of Atlanta, and Dr. E. C. Dargan, of Macon, two of the most prominent religious leaders of the Baptist denomination in the southern states. This means that the influence of these two leaders will be with Mercer from the outset and much good will come of the alliance. President Jameson adds that the personnel of the student body for the session promises to be as excellent as ever in the history of the institution.

There are indications that the largest student attendance ever seen at Mercer will be present when the first chapel exercises are held one week from Friday. The first work that will be done is scheduled for next Tuesday. At that time entrance examinations will begin and the remainder of the week will be devoted to entering the students properly and adjusting business affairs so that the session proper can begin on Monday. All departments will be largely attended.

English Rapidly Improving.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) I. B. English, the young man who was severely cut in a difficulty in the Elks' Club rooms on Labor day, has rapidly improved at the city hospital, and will soon be able to leave his room. The grievances between him and the man who cut him, Morgan Yates, will be explained before the recorder as soon as both are able to appear in court together.

Stole Shoes From Railroad.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) Joe Harmon, a negro employee at the Southern railway freight house here, was arrigned in police court this morning under charge of larceny, after a cleverly worked case in the hands of Detective Bunch brought him in as a prisoner. Harmon was said to have stolen a case of shoes from the depot. He was committed to jail to await a trial in the state court.

Prof. Edenfield at Mercer.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) Professor R. W. Edenfield, the newly elected man in the chair of mathematics at Mercer university, arrived today, and has gone into active preparation for the work of the coming session. He has been spending the summer doing special work in mathematics in Chicago university. He is a graduate of Mercer, and has done extensive work in the department where he will serve.

JACKSON GOES TO CHICAGO

Will Try to Interest Philanthropists in the Juvenile Court at Commerce, Ga.

Rev. Crawford Jackson, one of the delegates recently named by Governor Smith to represent this state in the National Prison Association, that convenes in annual assembly next Saturday at Chicago, left Atlanta yesterday to attend the convention of that body.

Rev. Mr. Jackson is conspicuously interested in the movement for a juvenile state reformatory, which it is proposed to locate upon some land recently donated to the Central Juvenile Protectory Association by Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, Ga. After adjournment of the prison association he will remain several days in Chicago, with a view to interesting philanthropists of that city in the movement. He also has engagements in St. Louis, where he will speak on his way home.

A special committee, consisting of Clifford L. Anderson, James L. Anderson, Frank Eastman, W. R. Hammond, and W. W. Landrum, was recently assembled for the purpose of investigating the affairs of the Juvenile Protectory Association.

Hashinski Fights Orr Note.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—I. Bashinski, a restaurant and saloon kteper who claims to have gone security on a note for $1,000 in the Exchange Bank for C. M. Orr, former pashier, filed an intervention in the receivership case against the Exchange last night asking that the receivers be required to pay him a 20 per cent dividend upon funds deposited to his credit in the stranded bank. He claims to have signed the note with Orr as a mere accommodation for a short time and he claims not to have known that the note was still unpaid. The receivers are now asking that the funds deposited to Bashinski's credit be applied to the payment of the note for Orr and the contest will go into the court.

Depot Matter Postponed.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—The hearing before Thomas G. Jones on the Mobile union depot matter, set in the federal court for September 20, has been postponed to date to be set later. This is the case involving the effort of the citizens of the city to make the Louisville and Nashville railroad enter and occupy the new union depot there.

Bank Accounts For Women

A woman must know something of business if she expects to hold her own these days. Nothing gives her better training than the management of her individual finances through a good bank.

Realizing this the Fourth National, five years ago opened a department especially for women patrons, putting it in charge of a woman teller, and making every provision to assist and accommodate customers. It was the first large bank in the South to take this step, and has become widely known through this progressive move.

We invite women's accounts, both Checking and Savings:

Savings Accounts---Interest 4%.

Open Accounts---Subject to check.

SAYS INMATES ARE INSANE

Superintendent of Masonic Home will Have Sent to Asylum.

Macon, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Superintendent Harris and the executive committee of the board of trustees of the Georgia Masonic home have been much exercised during the past week over the admission to the home of four inmates considered insane. Plans have been made to have them transferred at once to the state asylum. They will be given a hearing tomorrow before Ordinary Wiley and he will give direction touching the parties.

The officials and the superintendent have been surprised no little at the conduct of the persons so recently admitted and the large percentage of them who were unbalanced in mind before becoming inmates. The four who are to be passed upon under writs of lunacy are all subject to epileptic fits. There was another who was taken away when the true condition of the inmate was made known. The names of the persons are not divulged on account of their family connections.

KILLED BY MACHINERY.

Duncan Became Entangled in Belting and Was Mangled.

Rome, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Henry Duncan, a white man, employed at the works of the National Bauxite Company, in the seventh ward, was killed this afternoon by being caught in the machinery.

It is not known exactly how the accident happened, as it was not witnessed. His body was found by other employees shortly after the affair occurred, horribly mangled and tangled up in some belting. The body was brought to town and prepared for interment.

DID YOU SEE THE COMET? IT IS WITH US ONCE MORE

The Daniels comet is again with us. It made its appearance this morning between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock, for the first time since it disappeared a month ago.

The comet will continue to be visible for several nights, between those hours. This is one of its regularly recurring appearances. Though it is known to be moving with great rapidity, the distance at which it is frisking from the earth is so enormous that several days will be required in its passing.

During its last appearance, which was the first wherein it was visible to the naked eye, the comet was located about 25 degrees above the horizon, and bore about eight or ten degrees east of north. Professor Marbury, the local weather observer, was up before day this morning, searching the heavens for the stranger in order to get it located again.

The comet was first noticed, through powerful glasses, about three months ago. It should be distinctly visible these mornings, provided the sky is not clouded over, for the moon is new and sets in the early evening.

Have you rented that room? If not call 109, either phone.

FARMERS JOIN BATTLE WITH THE GAMBLERS.

The southern cotton farmers, the actual producers of the most valuable money crop of the nation, have squarely joined battle with the gambling contingent of the New York cotton exchange with the advance determination to save the millions of dollars that, heretofore, have annually been lost to them through the market manipulation of the exchange gamblers.

The issues and plan of campaign are clearly defined by President Charles Barrett in an interview in The Constitution. President Barrett has just returned from Little Rock, where the annual convention of the union fixed the minimum price for this year at 15 cents.

Classifying the New York cotton exchange as the most dangerous enemy of the list of those opposed to the welfare of the farmer, President Barrett says:

> We think that the New York gambling concern on Wall street has cost the cotton grower millions of dollars, and we intend to save that money hereafter by marketing the cotton at a price which we think fair and honest, and not at the fictitious prices of a lot of gamblers who don't mind fleecing the farmer any more than does a bunco steerer a greenhorn. We have discussed the situation fully, and have suggested what we believe to be a remedy, and that is to make the minimum price of cotton 15 cents, and to hold the cotton unless that price is paid.

The spectacle of the cotton producers of the south lined up in battle array against the market manipulators, who have, without showing a scintilla of return value, annually sheared off millions from the tangible wealth of the section, is an interesting one. For these planters, whether owners of a five-acre or 100-acre farm, are fighting for the material welfare of an entire section.

The Constitution, in an issue of recent date, published the observations of a southerner, describing a visit to the New York cotton exchange, and elaborating the methods whereby speculators, who would not know the growing cotton if they saw it, used it as a pawn in the reckless game that annually netted them millions of dollars. It showed that this actual wealth, in obedience to fixed economic laws, must come from some source; in this case, the pockets of the men who had produced the staple.

It showed that on the very date on which the article was written 225,000 bales of "hypothetical" cotton changed hands under the conveniently elastic future delivery system, that only 86 bales of real cotton were sold and 200 bales delivered on contract—these 200 bales being, to all seeming, "property cotton" which may have been used, times without number, for the validation of mythical deliveries.

It was also shown that under the rules and classifications of the exchange the sixteen grades below "middling," the basis, and the nine above, were so operated as to place a bludgeon in the hands of manipulators, allowing them to fix prices the country over at their own caprice without reference to actual value, and to foist on the occasional gullible buyer such rank stock as did not lend itself to bona fide manufacturing uses.

The indictment, in brief, was to the effect that the exchange had perverted its legitimate function of barter and sale, substituting therefor and countenancing practices that placed it in the category of such palaces of chance as Canfield's gambling institution at Saratoga, or Leopold's greenbaize conglomeration at Ostend.

The action of the Farmers' Union at Little Rock, and the summary of its policies, as expressed by President Barrett, mean that the cotton producers have determined that, henceforth, they will take the situation in their own hands; that, following the custom that applies to transactions between producer and consumer in every other field, the farmer will say to the buyer:

"I have here a certain amount of cotton which cost me a definite sum to produce; the laws of supply and demand and consumption tell me that it is worth 15 cents a pound in the open market; that is the lowest figure at which I will dispose of it; take it or leave it, as you please."

It is only necessary, as President Barrett stresses, that the producers display loyalty toward their organization, and cooperation in the maturing of its plans, to insure the realization of the 15-cent minimum, throughout the entire season, and the elimination of disastrous interference from The New York Cotton Exchange, or any other combination that has heretofore raised or lowered the price of cotton at its will.

Simply stated, the farmers have now control of the situation. It is their primary and inalienable right to say at what reasonable price they will sell the product of their labor. They recognize the fact that they cannot force an unreasonable price, and that it would injure their cause to attempt to do so. That is why they have kept within the bounds of reason and justice in naming 15 cents this year.

And they will discharge their plain duty to themselves and to the entire youth, by a rigid adherence to the plans outlined for their guidance.

MAKE THE "VAGS" MOVE ON.

The strong statements of Judge Norwood, of the city court of Savannah, regarding the necessity of enforcing the vagrancy law, are worthy the consideration of the grand and trial juries in every county in Georgia where the vagrant is an ever-present problem. Dismissing the merits of the particular case upon which Judge Norwood hung his utterances, his declaration that there were 5,000 vagrants in his community and that a policy of indifference was manifested by the local authorities, points a significant moral to officials charged everywhere with the enforcement of the law.

The vagrant, white or negro, is simply a parasite on the community. In the overwhelming majority of instances, he is a potential criminal. Given the opportunity or the necessity, the logical odds are that he will develop into an actual one.

The problem is one, moreover, which does not lend itself to either automatic or permanent settlement. The mere passage of a law against vagrancy will not scatter the drones that infest the towns and the cities. The only effectual method is a constant, intelligent employment of the police drag-net, in combination with such cooperation from the trial court as will make the role of the chronic idler too unpleasant and profitless to encourage its continuance.

It is true that the law cannot make an industrious man out of a born sluggard, overnight. But it can, through persistent enforcement, teach the sluggard that he has no place in Georgia, and that his loafing or vicious propensities must be exercised, if at all, in some other locality. And if that does not reach the source of the trouble—then there is always work to do in the public service.

If the vagrant must be supported by the public, why not force him to pay his way by utilizing his muscle on the public works?

FOR CONGRESS FROM THE FIFTH.

James L. Mayson, city attorney of Atlanta, announces that it is his intention to make the race for congress to succeed Congressman Livingston, who has for many years represented the capital city district in congress.

That Mr. Mayson has made one of the best city attorneys Atlanta ever had is a matter of common knowledge not only in the city, but throughout the state. Atlanta was never served more efficiently, nor more satisfactorily, by any public official, than it has been by Mr. Mayson during his incumbency as city attorney. That he would ably represent the district in congress no one who knows him can doubt.

Congressman Livingston, too, has for many years been a worthy representative of his constituency. He has gone to the front in the ranks of the democratic minority of the house, and has established a reputation for obtaining practical results for his district that has made him known far beyond the confines of his immediate constituency.

So that, whatever happens, if the choice is to be made between these two able men, the district will have a representative in whom it can place full confidence that its interests will be properly looked after.

The "Twa Gophers."

Robert Burns' poem on the "twa dogs," suggests the brief tale (no pun intended, of "twa gophers."

One The Constitution gopher, of name and fame and achievements the glory of which have been sounded beyond the limits of Georgia and the south.

The other, a gopher of nondescript lineage and history, that is supposed to be playing the role of mascot to the battling Memphis baseball team.

Now, The Constitution gopher, brimming with the patriotism indigenous to the community, has been rooting, since the opening of the season, for the athletes bearing the colors of the Gate City.

Wily of brains, sanguine of temperament, tenacious of disposition, he is employing all the "cunjur" with which his species is said to be endowed, to the end that victory may perch on the local banner.

The other gopher, somewhat timorously, and lacking the aggressiveness which comes with experience and the traditions of success in life, is doing his honest best for the aggregation that hails from the city on the bluffs of the Mississippi.

With a due application of metaphysics, as they apply to the abstract topic of gophers, and a logical consideration of the laws that govern all games of chance or skill or hazard, there can be but one outcome.

The machinations of the veteran, the strong magic brewed by the mascot who has grown hoary and crafty in battle, should prevail against the amateurish pretensions of his rival.

If the end of the week should tell a different tale—

It won't be the fault of The Constitution gopher!

The Negro As a Balance of Power.

The Constitutional League, with headquarters in New York, is resolved to take a very active part in state and national politics from now on. The object of the league is "to secure to the negro his rights."

Claiming to hold the balance of power in nine states of the union and presenting figures to substantiate this claim, Andrew B. Humphrey, the national secretary of the league, announces that systematic attempts are being made to organize the negro voters in these states, in order that they may exert their united strength when the occasion offers. The league will not play any regular favorites. It will hold aloof in the hope of dictating terms. It believes that plan will prove more profitable.

In Delaware, Indiana, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia the negroes have a voting strength which their leaders believe will enable them in fairly close elections to decide the contest. In other words, they are numerically strong enough to overcome the majority ordinarily received by the candidate of one party or the other. In the state of Massachusetts, for instance, which has sixteen electoral votes, Governor Guild last year received 30,233 republican plurality. In that state 10,456 negroes are entitled to vote. Under certain circumstances, it is pointed out, even this number of independent negro voters might hold in their hands defeat or victory. George W. Crawford, a Yale graduate and a practicing attorney of New Haven, in making a report for the department of civil rights to the Niagara movement meeting in Boston last week, submitted the following figures as to other states:

	Electoral Vote.	Republican Plurality.	Negro Voters, 1900.
Delaware	3	4,354	5,374
Indiana	15	30,825	15,186
Missouri	18	25,137	46,418

Just as present the league's chief aversion is Secretary Taft; its most illustrious idol and hero is Senator Foraker. The reason is not far to seek. No further, in fact, than Brownsville.

The convictions of the league on the subject of political principles may be judged from the aspirations above set forth. But it has other ambitious projects in view. It has charged itself with the duty of fighting for equal accommodations on steam railroads in the south, being encouraged to fresh exertion by the decision of the interstate commerce commission in the Jim-Crow car case recently decided from Georgia.

It will further investigate the alleged practice of keeping negroes off juries in the south. It has in course of incubation other crusades in the realm of civil rights.

One branch of the league is opposing Booker T. Washington's plan of industrial training for youth of the negro race, as opposed to the ordinary system of public school training. It appears that training for special fitness differing in any way from the education afforded to white children appeals to them as discriminatory and not to be countenanced. They have begun what is called the "Niagara movement," and will fight not only for equal, but for identical educational advantages with the whites.

If anything were needed to show the animus and definitely fix the intellectual status of the advocates of this movement, their own senseless demands would furnish it. No better evidence of the lack of practical sense on the part of the members and their real attitude toward the vital problems affecting their race could be needed. They do not aim to help the negro, to assist him in the best way possible; but are seeking merely to wipe away any distinctions made between the black and white children in the schools.

Despite the avowed purpose of the Constitutional League, which claims to have a membership, including allied clubs, of hundreds of thousands of voters, that they will seek Secretary Taft's scalp and prevent his landing the republican presidential nomination, there is no evidence that the big secretary is very much concerned or has given up his tour through the western states as being now futile.

The administration's efforts to whip the cusky recalcitrants into line will furnish an interesting spectacle for the democrats of the entire country.

The Intruder.

A Washington man was telling some one of the trials of his wife, an excellent housekeeper, with reference to the servant problem. Just about the time the mistress would get a new girl broken to the ways of the household and she would bid fair to become a model servant she would decamp or enter the service of a neighbor. One of these, a Mrs. B., had incurred the especial enmity of the first woman, for she had lately taken two servants from Mrs. Brown. One night Brown was aroused from his slumbers by queer sounds in the kitcheen. "Burglars!" he hoarsely whispered in the ear of his spouse, as he prepared to tumble out of bed and proceed down the wife, "I'd give anything to possess your optimistic nature. Always looking on the bright side. I'll wager anything that it's that odious B. woman trying to get Mary away from me."

"Just From Georgia."

His Sweetheart.

(A Billville Love Song.)

Perhaps we'll miss the violets,
a-twinkle with the dew,
But the apples—they are rosy as the
reddening cheeks of you;
An' your hair is like the moonlight on the valley an' the plain,
An' you're going to be my sweetheart at the grindin' of the cane!

Autumn is your lover—
All its gold's for you,
The sweetheart of the moonlight,
An' my sweetheart, too!

For you, the season's treasures—just all the wealth you see:
I ain't so much on singin', but your voice is song to me!
An' your eyes, they hold my heaven,
that I hope for—not in vain,
If you'll only be my sweetheart at the grindin' of the cane!

All the world's your lover—
All its light for you,
The sweetheart of the sunshine,
An' my sweetheart, too!

The Land of Lee.

The Lee County Journal says, "Lee county rolls in wealth." And "Let 'er roll!" is the congratulatory chorus on all sides. And this is the way Editor Beazley writes it up:

"I have taken to my heels
When the melon vines were running,
But they'd beat me out the fiel's!
And the county overseer
Got a decent chance to cuss
When the roads were blocked with melons
Bigger than an omnibus!
When the ground is rich an fertile:
If a button broke and chanced
In a row to fall at planting
It would grow a pair of pants!"

In the Poet's Den.

"Are you pretty well up with your work now?"

"Ah, no! I've got to write a short story ,to pay for Mollie's new dress; a couple of poems for her hat and gloves; a good, stirring song that will bring in enough for a ton of coal, and one or two love lyrics for a ham and a sack of flour. Oh, but it's a glorious old world—isn't it!"

"Respectfully Declined."

All "Jims" Alike to Him.

In a Billville justice court a prisoner repeatedly addressed the judge as "Jim," occasionally varying it with, "Now, Jim, old boy," etc. Finally, the judge said:

"You must be more respectful, sir, in addressing the court. Say, 'Your honor.'"

"I'll be darned ef I do!" replied the prisoner. "You an' me wuz boys together, an' ef you has climbed high, I'm not gwine to let you fall on me as heavy as that! So, go on with the railsplittin'!"

The Editorial Nemesis.

He is coming with a clipping, and a wondrous air of news,
And he rushes in the sanctum:
"Here's the thing you want to use!
Chuck full of information—best thing you've ever known!"
And his tintinnabulation makes you tilt your chair an' groan!

He is coming, with an eager and a most expectant air,
For the press has been too meager in its praise of one so rare!
"Has the weekly Bugle mentioned him?" (He just dropped in to know.)
You sigh, and wish they'd pensioned him a hundred years ago!

And a sweet voice chimes: "This poem—I dashed it off like—that!
Where's the editor?" (Just show him how the birds sing on her hat!)
"Will you publish it tomorrow? It is sweet enough to thrill!"
And so it goes, dear brethren! (Have you all been through the mill?)

VINDICATION, NOT EDUCATION

Object of Speeches by Smith and Hardwick,

Declared Major McGregor at Educational Rally at Sparta—He Criticizes Governor and Representative Hardwick for Making Political Addresses.

Note—The following news dispatch from Sparta, Ga., from The Constitution's special staff correspondent, was delayed in transmission on account of wire troubles. The telegraph wires were closed and it was impossible to reach Atlanta by telephone. The speech was delivered the middle of the afternoon and after the hour of its delivery no communication with Atlanta was possible.

Sparta, Ga., September 10.—(Special Staff Correspondence.)—Major Charles E. McGregor introduced the surprise of the day at the Tenth District agricultural school rally. His address turned out to be the most sensational feature of the occasion. It was entirely impromptu, as Major McGregor was not on the regular program of the day's events. Although his address was characterized by the utmost good humor, Major McrGegor hit straight from the shoulder, and did not mince words. "This has been a vindication love feast and not an educational rally," he said.

The burden of his complaint was that the trustees of the Tenth District agricultural school, the people of Hancock and adjoining counties had gathered to hear Governor Hoke Smith and Representative Hardwick discuss agricultural education and help the people of the district by their counsel and advice in making the school a success. Instead, Major McGregor protested, they had listened for three hours to a talk of current political matters by men seeking vindication.

It was after the barbecue had been disposed of, and the people were again congregated on the spot where the speaker's stand was located that Major McGregor was called on for an informal talk.

He said vehemently:

Vindication Object of Speeches.

"While we have been highly entertained by our governor and our congressman, they did not need to come here to attempt a vindication of their course in regard to disfranchisement, prohibition and the other issues which the recent legislature disposed of so effectually. Here in Hancock county the reform forces were stronger than anywhere in the state. This is one of the three counties in the state where Governor Smith felt there was no need for him to speak. It was conceded to him anyway.

"The only thing the governor has told us today for the good of our agricultural school is that he has conferred with Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson and finds we will receive about $6,000 in the distribution of the tax money from the fertilizer fund and the pure-food and drug fund. Well, we knew that before. We have a big problem on hand in equipping and maintaining this school as we would like to maintain it, and we need more than $6,000 to do it."

Major McGregor then went into the subject of the disposal of the money received by the state from congress under the Morrell law, and said he was in favor of applying every dollar of it strictly to agricultural schools. He said the money was given for education in agriculture and mechanic arts, and the state had no right to divert it to any other purpose.

Jim Sibley and the Filipinos.

"We ought to be encouraged to work for our agricultural school," continued Major McGregor, "when we hear such reports as that our neighbor, Jim Sibley of Milledgeville, brings back from the Philippines, where he has been teaching school. He says the Filipinos, in two years after organizing for agricultural education, had built a $50,000 concrete structure and started to work. If the Filipinos, who I understand are almost savages, could do that, a prosperous people like those in the tenth district ought to be able to make a magnificent success of their schools.

Governor Smith's Personal Program

"Governor Smith tells us he is going over the state to help on the cause of agricultural education. This is all a pretext. He is traveling around to urge the ratification of the franchise amendment. He is telling the people whom to elect to the legislature. Naturally, he wants to have a legislature who will do what he wants to have done.

"Tom Hardwick comes down here and at an educational rally makes a speech on the disfranchisement of the negro. He doesn't discuss agricultural education. He says he doesn't know anything about agriculture. The only thing he is after is personal vindication for his disfranchisement views. He cares more about that just now than he does about making the agricultural school a success.

"Governor Smith has adopted the same tactics. He is traveling over the state using educational rallies as a means to further his own personal political fortunes. He devotes nine-tenths of his speech to politics and about one-tenth to the cause of education. Yet we came here today to attend an educational rally where agricultural education would be discussed."

Major McGregor referred in a facetious way to the only real enthusiasm manifested throughout the entire day having broken out at the mention of Hon. Thomas E. Watson. "Why, twelve or fourteen years ago a crowd of Watson's friends were nearly mobbed right here in Hancock county when we dared mention his name. Today the reference to Tom Watson was the signal for a demonstration."

"LOST EARTHQUAKE" IS FOUND.

Aleutian Islands Disturbance Was Recorded Month Ago.

New York, September 11.—The earthquake reported to have occurred in the Aleutian Islands on September 1 and 2, and news of which has reached Seattle through an officer of the revenue cutter Rush, is believed to be the "lost earthquake," recorded early in the month on the seismograph at Washington, in England, and at Ottawa. The Washington experts at the time figured that it had occurred about 6,300 miles from Washington, and from the data which the instrument furnished them, believed that it was in the region of Alaska.

Their belief is now borne out by the dispatch stating that it was in the Aleutian Islands.

NO INVESTIGATION OF WATERWORKS

That's the Way It Looks Just Now.

COMMITTEE WILL NOT MEET

Chairman Longino Talks as if the Meeting of Special Investigating Committee Is Matter of Extreme Doubt—A Meeting May Never Be Held.

When asked yesterday what time he would call the special waterworks committee together, Councilman Longino said:

"I don't know. The fact is, I don't think I will ever call it together."

When asked why he made this statement, he said:

"Well, whenever I try to get the committee together, first one and then another cannot be present. It just looks as if the committee will never meet, and I don't believe it will."

"Will you make a report to the city council next Monday, or later, stating that the special committee will not make the proposed investigation into the waterworks system?" Councilman Longino was asked.

"Well, I don't know as to that," was the reply. "I suppose the matter will be allowed to stand open for a while."

From what the councilman says, it seems that the waterworks investigation is off for a while at least, and it rather looks as if it will never take place.

New Pump Caused It.

After the city council got into a muddle over the purchase of a new pump, a resolution was adopted by council appointing a committee of three councilmen and three citizens with the city engineer to investigate the waterworks system and make a report on what the department needs.

Some members of this committee visited the river station a few days ago, and it is said that two of them thought they could suggest improvements in the boilers.

It was given out that the committee would meet and begin the investigation some day this week, so as to be able to make a report to council next Monday, but from what Chairman Longino said yesterday, the proposed investigation is not yet in sight, and it is probable that the whole matter will amount to nothing.

WILL INCREASE PAY ROLL.

Prohibition Contests Will Raise the Amount Very Materially.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—The many prohibition contests that are set out for the coming year and the renewed interest in public affairs at this time will, in the opinion of the officers of the state, bring out a large poll tax vote, probably much larger than that of the current year. For last year the total was $102,000 and for the year before $117,000. It is thought that the next round will show a larger increase. In the prohibition fights that are anticipated there will be an effort to qualify every voter to cast his ballot.

T. D. Power, representative in the legislature from Lee county, who has been in the city this week, says that the county will go for prohibition when the vote is taken. He thinks that the sentiment is very much in favor of ousting the traffic.

TWAIN WON'T PLAY THE PILOT.

He Refuses to Go With Roosevelt Down the Mississippi.

New York, September 11.—Sam L. Clemens (Mark Twain), will not pilot President Roosevelt's steamer down the Mississippi river when the president makes his next southern and western trip. Some of Mr. Clemens' admirers have been planning to revive the old days when Mark Twain was a Mississippi pilot and Captain Baxby, an old-time river pilot, had promised to stand his trick at the wheel along with Twain if he could be induced to steer the president's steamer down the river, after attending the waterways convention to be held in Memphis next month. Mr. Clemens, however, has declined the invitation to attend the convention.

GASOLINE LAUNCH EXPLODES.

Three Escape Death and Are Rescued by Ship.

Augusta, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) In the explosion of a gasoline launch on the Savannah river, a few miles below Augusta, B. E. Lester and Captain P. H. Haddon, both of the Augusta and Savannah Steamboat Company, narrowly escaped death or serious injury.

The explosion was caused by the negro pilot attempting to light his pipe. The gasoline was leaking out of the engine and must have been ignited from a spark from the match. The three occupants were rescued by a river steamer.

GAYNOR RETURNS TO MACON

From Two Weeks' Stay at Indian Springs, Ga.

Indian Springs, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Deputy United States Marshall Riley has received orders from the United States marshal at Macon to return Colonel John F. Gaynor to the Bibb county jail. Gaynor has been at Indian Springs for the past two weeks recovering his health. He shows great improvement and orders have been issued that he be returned to jail. Deputy Riley will leave with his charge in the morning for Macon.

Big Enrollment for Alabama.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—The enrollment at the university has reached a total of 311, 162 being new students and 109 old men. This is a larger number than the entire enrollment of the season of 1906-07, which was 310. There are only two years in the history of the university where this number has been reached in an entire session. Miss Ora Ionneene Smith, of Belton, S. C., has arrived to take up her duties as librarian at the university.

Tax Assessors to Meet.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—The tax officers who are to meet here next Tuesday and Wednesday are the assessors, not the collectors, as this correspondence erroneously stated in an earlier letter. They are the men who make the valuations.

Merchants, manufacturers and other business men who require a complete bank service, are invited to investigate our facilities and to consider the desirability of our location.
MADDOX-RUCKER BANKING CO.

ASK RECEIVER FOR COMPANY

Petitioners Say North Georgia Electric Co. Is Bankrupt.

SECURED CITY FRANCHISE

Application for Receiver for North Georgia Electric Company Denied on Legal Grounds—Company Has Headquarters in Gainesville, Ga.

A suit was filed in the United States court yesterday morning asking that the North Georgia Electric Company be adjudged a bankrupt.

On Tuesday in the United States court in Huntsville, Ala., an application was made for a receiver for the company, and the application was denied on legal grounds.

The North Georgia Electric Company has its headquarters in Gainesville, Ga., and has run a wire to Atlanta for the purpose of furnishing light and power in the city. It secured a franchise from the city council, which expired last spring. A petition asking that the franchise be extended for a year was granted.

It seemed that the company was on solid footing and that Atlanta would soon have competition for lights and electric power.

Brown & Randolph, as attorneys representing certain clients, filed the application for a receiver for the company before Judge David D. Shelby, at Huntsville. This application was denied on the ground that the complaint was not an equitable one, as the claim for receivership was based on a note which should be settled in a court of justice.

Dorsey, Brewster & Howell and L. C. Rucker filed the suit in bankruptcy in Atlanta and this may be followed with another application for a receiver.

In the suit for a receiver filed in Huntsville, John A. Nesbit, of Xenia, Ohio, appears as plaintiff. He states that he has constructed a steel tower electric tranmission line and other improvements at a cost of about $300,000; that the defendant company has valuable contracts in Atlanta, Gainesville, Buford and Norcross and 5,000 acres of land in Gainesville with a 50,000-horse power plant for generating electricity; that the company owes more than $1,000,000 and its interest account is $60,000 a year; that there are outstanding bonds for $650,000; that in 1906 an issue of bonds for $7,500,000 was proposed and $400,000 of the amount were issued and a deed of trust made to the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York. It is stated that D. M. Stewart, president of the company, consents to a receiver being appointed.

The petitioner for a receiver further stated that the indebtedness to him consisted of a promissory note for $5,000.

In the suit in bankruptcy the plaintiffs are Ellwood Allen, of Ohio; W. D. Chamberlin, of Ohio, and the Western Union Telegraph Company. The petition alleges that the North Georgia Electric Company is indebted to Allen in the sum of $5,000 on a promissory note, due October 1, 1907, and that it has been admitted that the company will not pay the note; that Chamberlin is due $1,000, and to the Western Union Telegraph Company 98 cents.

TO ASSESS ROAD'S VALUE

Board of Arbitration Held Lengthy Meeting, but Arrived at No Decision.

For two hours yesterday afternoon the board of arbitration named to assess a value upon the Southern system in Georgia went over the figures for four years back and adjourned to meet again this morning in the office of the comptroller general to continue this work.

The board was composed of Railroad Commissioner O. B. Stevens, representing the state; Hon. Roland Ellis, of Macon, representing the road, and Hon. A. L. Miller, of Macon, as umpire.

The road returned this property at $14,000,000; the return was rejected, and Comptroller General Wright assessed it at $26,500,000.

There were present in addition to the arbitrators yesterday afternoon, Attorney General Hart, representing the comptroller general; Comptroller General Wright, Hon. Hamilton Mc-Whorter, assistant general counsel for the Southern; First Vice President A. B. Andrews, H. W. Miller, assistant to the first vice president; Manager M. M. Richey, of the Southern, and Attorney Sanders McDaniel, of the Southern.

The board will probably reach a decision this afternoon and at once take up the returns of the Alabama Great Southern for arbitration and adjudication.

JAMES MAYSON FOR CONGRESS

Atlantan Will Make Race in Congressional Primary,

WILL ANNOUNCE PLATFORM

James Mayson Announces His Intention of Entering the Race for Congress—Will Outline Position on National Issues at Early Date.

James L. Mayson, city attorney, has announced his intention of entering the race for congress against Hon. Lon Livingston. His announcement follows:

"My first intention was to wait for some time before deciding as to whether or not I would make the race for congress at the next congressional primary.

"However, since the matter was first suggested, the Young Men's Prohibition Club, the traveling men and the city salesmen of this city have all passed resolutions requesting me to make the race. I have also received a number of letters from friends throughout the district urging my candidacy and pledging their support. In justice to them, I must give a reply either agreeing to accept their offers of support and make the race, or declining the tender and following the path of professional work.

"I, therefore, take this occasion to thank all my friends for their kindly offers of support and to state to them and to the voters of this district that I will be a candidate for this office before the voters at the next democratic congressional primary named by the authorized committee, and I will undertake to outline my position on national issues at an early date and submit my candidacy to their suffrage."

REFUSE PUPILS AN ADMISSION

State Normal is Overcrowded and Cannot Take Any More.

Milledgeville, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—The Georgia Normal and Industrial college opened this morning with the largest attendance in its history. There will be in attendance this fall 500 students, 283 having been refused admission.

President Parks is trying to give the widest possible circulation to this fact to prevent students who have not obtained certificates of admission from coming to the school and seeking admission, supposing that, as it is a state school, they wil be admitted.

No more students can be provided for before January 1, 1908. All the dormitories are full, and many students are boarding with the citizens of Milledgeville. The faculty is one of the best in the state, and the indications are good for a splendid year by the Georgia Normal and Industrial college.

AT WORK ON DEMURRER

Attorney General Hart Will Not Attack the Fourteenth Amendment, He Says.

Attorney General J. C. Hart is at work on the demurrer to be filed in the federal court, but as yet there is nothing in it in regard to an attack upon the fourteenth amendment.

A paper yesterday afternoon printed: "Governor Hoke Smith, Attorney General Hart, Special Counsel to the Railroad Commission J. K. Hines are at work on a demurrer questioning the validity of the fourteenth amendment."

When shown this statement last night, Attorney General Hart said:

"I have not yet considered the matter of attacking the validity of the fourteenth amendment."

Further than this he declined to discuss the demurrer.

As the demurrer is not yet near completion, it is too early to predict its contents.

Falls From Telephone Pole.

Griffin, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Arthur Mintz, a telephone lineman of this city, was seriously injured at Hampton by falling several feet from a pole and badly spraining his back. He was doing some work on the lines, and the accident was caused by one of the telephone poles giving away.

MAIER & BERKELE

THREE MEN MENTIONED TO SUCCEED J. L. MAYSON

Reports in Local Political Circles Say Courtland Winn, William Hill and William Terrell Will Be Candidates.

The announcement of James L. Mayson for congress from the fifth district is causing considerable stir in local political circles as his candidacy will leave a vacancy in the office of city attorney.

Already rumors are rife about candidates for the city attorney's office. Nobody is "talking right out in meeting," but some of them are letting their friends know that they have an eye on the plum.

Mr. Mayson has held the office of city attorney for several years and he has had associated with him as assistant, William P. Hill. Mr. Mayson has always been elected before the people and he has never had any opposition.

Terrell May Be in Race.

Some days ago, when the probability of Mr. Mayson entering the race for congress was first talked of, there was a rumor at the city hall that Councilman William H. Terrell would in all probability run for city attorney. It is well known that Mr. Terreli and Mr. Mayson are close personal and political friends and have been for years. Mr. Terrell is also an ardent prohibitionist and the very people who are endorsing Mr. Mayson for congress might endorse Mr. Terrell for city attorney. When asked if he would become a candidate for city attorney if Mr. Mayson ran for congress, Mr. Terrell stated several days ago:

"Well, that is a question which I will consider later on. I might make the race under certain circumstances."

Winn and Hill Named.

It is also said that Mr Hill will himself become a candidate for city attorney and that he has a strong backing.

Another report has it that Courtland S. Winn, a well-known attorney, once a member of council from the second ward, and now a member of the board of education, will enter the race for city attorney, and that Mr. Hill will be his assistant. It is said that this ticket has already been agreed upon.

The gentlemen themselves have nothing to say about the matter at this time.

The city attorney's election comes off in the white primary next year and there is plenty of time for candidates to get into line.

Courtland S. Winn, when asked last night if he would make the race to succeed City Attorney Mayson, said:

"I have been approached by my friends and asked to make the race, but I have not made up my mind what I shall do."

W. B. Hill, who it is rumored will make the race, could not be located last night.

MANY WOMEN PRESENT AT MILLINERY OPENING

"The 'mushroom shape' is, I think, an inappropriate name for these quaint pictures of the chapeaux, whose designers have had their inspiration from study of the old masterpieces in Parisian galleries.

"They are copies of the hats worn by grandes dames of centuries ago—hats that framed faces of classic features and patrician beauty, and are associated in our artistic minds with anything but the symbolism suggested by the 'mushroom.'"

The speaker was one of many of the hundreds of women who admired and tried on and longed for the creations shown in a well known establishment yesterday.

One would think that the beauty of color schemes, the fragrance and freshness of the real flowers that filled vases on all sides would have brought a general sunshine of spirit among the devotees of fashion, but not so!

Women realize too well the seriousnes of selecting their hats! Too much depends upon it. No matter how well satisfied they may be with their figures and facial beauty; their gowns, and the number they have, smart women realize that no feature of the toilet should be more carefully selected, and they are serious at millinery openings. A flower TOO bright, a plume too long, a bow badly placed, a veil hung wrong will break the harmony of the smartest toilet, and render it incomplete.

The most dignified and queenliest of women may be made ridiculous by a hat improperly adjusted, or worn at the wrong angle.

The wrong color placed near the brim of a hat, will bring out every defect in the skin, accentuating the swarthy skin, or bringing pallor to the clear, fair skin.

Women have a habit of seating themselves comfortably while trying on hats, but they should never make the purchase without standing first and studying the proportions, and the general effect, for really it is no exaggeration to declare that a becooming hat is the crowning glory of the feminine toilet.

All these statements are based on the advice of the subtle-voiced, persuasive artist who showed a number of the hats yesterday and whose well poised head with soft pompadour seemed to change to suit each hat she tried on, as she turned to her customers and said: "See."

She knew what they should wear, and as each patron appeared she was told just the purple or heliotrope or amethyst or violet shade that was hers to wear.

"Eminence" purple is no other than the old royal purple, that of vivid hue, while the others—heliotrope, amethyst and violet—explain themselves. It is a joy to the French to combine these shades with all others, and only they can do it.

For instance, who but a French artist would dare to take pale blue moire silk, make a quaint picture hat of it, and trim it in amethyst colored velvet and an American Beauty rose?

French Hat of Dark Blue.

Another daring French hat of dark blue velvet with broad, round, drooping brim, was trimmed in deep tinted roses showing the tones of purple, deep rose color and foliage of the same, and had giving finish a full bow of silk ribbon in "nattier" blue.

This "nattier" blue is the new shade between what was called last season "Saxe" and the season before "Alice." It is an excellent neutral color, and is pretty or hats dark or light.

Illustrating this was a dark blue felt hat round shaped and adjusted in front. Around the crown was a band of Japanese gold embroidery, and height was given in a cluster of Prince of Wales plumes in nattier blue.

Near by was a white hat trimmed in ribbon and foliage of the same blue, and both hats expressed the real meaning of the word "chic."

That coque feathers still hold their own was demonstrated in all the admiration lavished upon a dark amethyst colored hat of broad brim, which had as its only trimming a wreath of little curled coque feathers of bronze tint, and then a sweeping bunch of longer coque feathers as a finishing touch.

Although there are hats exquisitely combining as many as three and four colors on the one hat; there are also elegant hats expressing only one color—all purple, all green or all guepe brown—that new shade between chamois and mustard color.

A dream of a hat that will be the joy of some woman who has a baby lamb coat, or a gown trimmed in baby lamb. It is the Frenchiest hat made of the baby lamb fur. It is medium-sized, and has trimming it a wreath of small roses in deep shades, and an ostrich plume of foliage green.

Another hat in baby lamb has its only trimming in a cluster of white ostrich plumes.

The face veils this season are heavily dotted, and in all colors. Some are bordered, and many are of lace, and very Frenchy.

CLUBS TO GIVE HANDSOME PRIZES

Silver Cups to Be Donated to the Atlanta Horse Show.

The Capital City Club and the Piedmont Driving Club will each give handsome silver trophies at the forthcoming horse show. The Capital City Club cup will be for runabouts owned in Fulton county, and the Country Club cup will be for an entry confined to local exhibitors, the class not yet decided upon.

Although the results of their work has not as yet been officially reported, it is well known that the various committees appointed by President Peel to push the interests of the horse show, have met fith a general and most gratifying encouragement. Besides the silver cups given by the two social clubs, a number of Atlanta's leading merchants have under consideration the donation of trophies that will in their substantial value and the classes in which they will be awarded, at once arouse an enthusiastic interest among Atlanta exhibitors and patrons.

The members of the various sub-committees are hard at work and report that in every direction they have found a ready interest in the forthcoming show, which here, as elsewhere, must prove an event of commercial significance, as well as one of general pleasure, with a brilliant social side.

There will be a meeting of the Horse Show Association this afternoon in the office of the president, William Lawson Peel, when it is expected that not only will the various committees report, but more details will be given out pertaining to the plans of the show, the exact time and the general scope of the exhibition from every standpoint.

BADLY BITTEN BY BIRD DOG

J. H. Sims, of Brinson, Ga., Was Brought to Pasteur Institute.

J. H. Sims, of Brinson, Ga., one of the most prominent citizens of Decatur county, was brought to the Pasteur institute yesterday by Dr. J. A. Parsons, of Brinson. Mr. Sims was bitten by a mad dog on Wednesday, a week ago.

The dog which inflicted the wound was a valuable bird dog, one year old, which had been raised by Mr. Sims. It had never displayed any viciousness before, and for this reason there was some delay before it was realized that Mr. Sims had been attacked by a dog suffering from hydrophobia.

The head of the dog was on Saturday given to Dr. Parsons in Brinson, who at once forwarded it to the Pasteur institute. After examination it was found that the dog had had a well developed case of hydrophobia, and Mr. Sims was accordingly brought to Atlanta by Dr. Parsons yesterday.

The officials of the institute state that they apprehend no trouble in handling Mr. Sims' case, and that he will probably be able to return to south Georgia in about three weeks.

HIGH OFFICIAL COMING TO CITY

Leader of Salvation Army Work Will Arrive Next Friday.

On Friday, September 13, Brigadier A. Marcussen, of Cleveland, Ohio, the commanding officer of all the social work of the Salvation Army for the middle west and southern states, will arrive in Atlanta.

The brigadier will audit all books and inspect each branch of work in his department while in Atlanta.

On Friday evening the local forces of the army will give the brigadier a public reception at the Salvation Army hall, 72 Marietta street, at 8 o'clock, after which a special meeting will be conducted by this visiting officer.

Brigadier Marcussen is an able speaker, and is a Salvationist of many years, having served the army in a number of different countries.

A cordial invitation is extended to the friends of the army to attend the reception and meeting.

LAWYER DIES FROM WOUNDS.

Bartender Fired on Him With a Double-Barreled Shotgun.

Greenville, Miss., September 11.—J. M. Jayne, a prominent lawyer of Leland, was shot today by a bartender named Johnson, and has since succumbed to his wounds.

The deed was done with a double-barreled shotgun loaded with buckshot. Particulars are not definitely known in regard to the shooting, but the killing was the culmination of some trouble between the men last night.

COMING STATE FAIR WILL BE BIG EVENT

President J. J. Connor, of the State Agricultural Society of Georgia, and by virtue of his office president of the Georgia Fair Association, is in the city, and states that the coming fair will see a dozen of the most prosperous counties in the state represented by agricultural displays.

The association has offered three money prizes of $1,200, $1,000 and $800 for the first three prize-winning exhibits, and purses of $200 each for the next six to stimulate the interest in this direction.

Cobb, Gwinnett, Bulloch, Habersham, Carroll, Morgan, DeKalb, Worth, Hall and Morgan have signified their intentions of showing in this contest.

Last year Bulloch county won first prize, and Bartow county came second.

"The exhibits along the agricuitural lines this year," said President Connor, "will be bigger and better than ever. The crops are all fine, and the displays will be elaborate."

Secretary Frank Weldon, who has been in the east for ten days looking after midway attractions, will return to Atlanta today, and will get busy on the prize lists, which will be announced the latter part of the week. President Connor will be in Atlanta for the rest of the week arranging with Secretary Weldon about the opening of the fair, and helping him to look after the details.

Negro and Officer in Duel.

Augusta, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) A spectacular pistol duel was fought near Hephzibah yesterday between Constable Eubanks and Will Grimes, a fleeing negro criminal. Eubanks, in company with Magistrate Kelly, went to the negro's house to make the arrest. They were met by Grimes, revolver in hand. The negro opened up the shooting bee while Eubanks was still many yards distant, and Eubanks began immediately to return the fire. Both sought shelter and got down to "business." After all the chamber of both revolvers had been exhausted, firing ceased. Constable Eubanks found that he had been shot through the hand. The negro escaped in the woods, and it is not known whether or not he was hit.

SOCIETY

To Mrs. Page.

Mrs. W. S. Holland entertained delightfully at cards last night in compliment to her guest, Mrs. Elizabeth Frye Page, of Nashville.

There were five tables of six-hand euchre, and the reception rooms where the game was played had a seasonable decoration of golden-rod. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening, and the prizes were a cut-glass bowl, a Bohemian glass bon-bon dish and a hand-painted cup and saucer. Mrs. Page was presented a pair of silk gloves.

Mrs. Holland was handsomely gowned in white mull and lace, and Mrs. Page wore a becoming lingerie gown.

Miss Knox to Entertain.

Miss Jennie Knox will entertain at cards this afternoon, her guests to include:

Misses Bessie Wallace Pope, Imogene Thorne, Annie Sykes Rice, Helen Jones, Emily Winship, Marian Foster, Edith Kirkpatrick, Antoinette Kirkpatrick, Ethel Willingham, Clara Mitchell, Julia Dodd, Sarah Jackson, of Charleston; Lillian Yow, Ruth Wing, Alma Glenn, Ruth King, Ida King, Annie Ray, Margaret Haverty, Carolyn King, Agnes Harrison, Jennie Hutchins, Ida Landrum, Ethel Noble, Martha Lawshe, Caroline Muse, Willie Muse, Margaret Armstrong, Frances Hightower, Alline Parks, Emma Kate Amorous, Daisy LeCraw, Beth Wall, Laura Ansley, Laurian Johnson and Tommie Perdue.

Talley-Davis.

Organ Recital.

The organ recital to be given by Dr. J. Lewis Browne, assisted by Mr. George McDaniel, baritone, in the First Christian church, South Pryor street and Trinity avenue, tonight, will be commenced at a quarter past eight o'clock. A very interesting program will be offered. It follows:

Chaconne, Bach (adapted from the transcription of Lamping.)

"Confuntatis Maledictus," Verdi (from the Manzoni Requiem)—Mr. McDaniel.

(a) "The Swan," Saint-Saens; (b) Intermezzo (Opus 59, No. 3), Reger; (c) Gavotte from "Mignon," Thomas.

Intermission of five minutes.

Four Melodies from "La Boheme," Puccina (paraphrased.)

"Gloria a Te," Buzzi-Peccia—Mr. McDaniel.

Andante Cantabile from the Fourth Organ Symphony, Widor.

Extemporization.

Dr. Browne will be glad to extemporize on a subject submitted by any one in the audience. Themes should not exceed four bars, should be written plainly and should be handed the usher during the intermission.

Scherzo Symphonique, Browne.

To Miss Howell.

Mrs. W. E. Foster and Mrs. Marshall Eckford will entertain at bridge this afternoon in compliment to Miss Mary Adair Howell, a bride-elect of November. The guests will include the members of the O. M. Club.

Trail Party.

Mrs. John Montgomery entertained the North Side Club of Decatur and a number of other ladies yesterday afternoon, and the meeting was a most enjoyable one. Trail was played, and punch and ices were served during afternoon, Miss Georgia Crane presiding at the punch bowl.

The prizes were linen and lace table pieces, and they were won by Mrs. M. I. Stone, Mrs. Howell Erwin, Jr., and Mrs. J. P. Laird.

Mrs. Montgomery wore a becoming lingerie gown with red ribbons, and red and white were the colors carried out in all the decorative details.

Meetings.

The appointment of superintendents of departments will be the principal business for the consideration of the members of the Atlanta Willard Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the meeting this afternoon in Trinity church house at 3 o'clock. It is in order to pay annual dues at this time, so that the union may have a full delegation at the state convention in Columbus. Visitors cordially welcomed.

WILL HANG PORTRAIT

Of Duncan B. Graham, War Treasurer of Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., September 11.—(Special.)—The portrait of Duncan B. Graham, war treasurer of the state, has been presented to State Treasurer Walter D. Seed for hanging in the office of the strong box keeper. It was given by his daughter, Miss Mamie E. Graham, a resident of Montgomery. This makes the list in the gallery of the treasury composed of pictures of the following who have in times served the state in this place: Fred H. Smith, J. L. Cobbs, J. Craig Smith, George W. Ellis and D. Crawford.

The others to be secured and which are now being sought by Mr. Seed are J. F. Ross, the first incumbent, who was in the office of the territory; John C. Perry, Hardin Perkins, William Hawn, S. G. Frierson, William Graham, uncle of Duncan B. Graham; S. P. Saxon, Arthur Bingham, J. F. Grant and Isaac H. Vincent.

Boys Look Best in XTRAGOOD Clothes

AT school—on Sunday—anywhere and at all times you want your boys to look as well as any. And better if possible.

It all depends on the clothes you buy. Most kinds lack fit, shape, style, neatness and good taste; poor materials and poorer tailoring are responsible.

XTRAGOOD are entirely different; made after a higher standard, under better conditions, of superior fabrics, by smarter workmen. In making clothes of better quality and more durability, the manufacturers produce garments that also look right. Clothing made as XTRAGOOD is, lacks nothing in appearance or wearing qualities.

Let us show our styles for boys and children. Ages 2½ to 17. Prices $5 to $12.

RACE ON FOR SOLICITOR.

Many Candidates Want Place on Chattahoochee Circuit.

Columbus, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—According to reports, there will be several other entries in the race for solicitor general of the Chattahoochee circuit, and the contest will be a lively one, indeed.

Judge J. B. Burnside, of Hamilton, was in the city today and said that it was true that he was seriously considering becoming a candidate, although he will as yet authorize no announcement on the subject.

Muscogee county already has two candidates in the persons of Hon. George C. Palmer and Hon. B. S. Miller. It is reported today that Hon. G. Y. Tigner, of this city, may enter the race, and that Judge D. L. Parmer, who was a candidate four years ago, may again be a candidatee.

INSTANT RELIEF FROM CATARRH.

Send for a Trial Sample of This Great Remedy, and Convince Yourself of Its Merit.

When we say that Eclipse Catarrh Cure gives instant relief from that disagreeable, offensive disease from which so many suffer, we are ready to prove this assertion to your entire satisfaction. No matter how long you have been afflicted, no matter how badly stopped up your head may be, the sample which we will send you will give immediate relief, clear up the clogged air passages, throw off the offensive accumulations, and soothe and heal the delicate, irritated membrane.

Eclipse Catarrh Cure is a vegetable preparation of wonderful curative powers. It promptly reaches the remotest air passages, where the disease is located, and effects a permanent cure in even the worst cases.

Mrs. E. A. Bryant, Rome, Ga., Writes:

"I want to tell you how much good your medicine has done for me. Before I used your remedy I [illegible] much with Catarrhal deafness I could hardly hear at all, but now I can hear as well as I could before I had Catarrh.

"I am now sixty-eight years old, and have never had anything to do me as much good as your medicine.

"I advise everyone who has catarrh to get and use the 'Total Eclipse Catarrh Cure.'"

Send for Week's Treatment.

We are anxious for every sufferer to try this great remedy and will send for twenty-five cents in stamps a liberal trial treatment and a pipe to all who will send us their name and address. We have hundreds of letters from grateful patients whom we have cured, and will send you also our booklet containing these testimonials and full information about the disease. Do not delay, but write today. Address Eclipse Medicine and Manufacturing Company, Atlanta, Ga.

At the Bijou.

George Ade has seen a lot of life, and his story "Just Out of College" is one of the cleverest and most interesting word pictures of real things that any playwright has given the stage.

The Bijou is offering this play this week, and at popular prices. It is the first time that a play of this sort has been offered here at the Bijou scale, and because of the excellence of the attraction and the real bargain condition of things, the "sold out" sign has been on duty at every performance.

The cast is remarkably clever and the production is perfectly new. The costuming is bright and attractive, and in all the offering is one of the many gems the Bijou produces in a season.

A chorus adds materially to the brightness and the success of the attraction. When the play was originally produced there was no music, and no chorus, but the new management evidenced enterprise in presenting an attractive octette of girls who help make a lot of nice stage pictures and who add to the magnetism of the play.

There will be performances Thursday and Saturday afternoons and every evening the balance of the week.

St. Nicholas Auditorium.

As a special attraction for tonight Wastell and White, the spectacular roller skating team who are engaged for this week at the big rink at Ponce de Leon, will put on a novel comedy act in costume. Those who have seen this clever pair in their startlingly original act will be prepared in some measure for a performance unique and totally different from anything seen at the auditorium this season.

Watsell and White are nothing if not original and everything they attempt has an artistic finish about it which pleases.

Crowds are keeping up remarkably well at the rink, both at afternoon and night performances, and skating may be said to be at the height of its popularity in Atlanta.

For next week the management of the auditorium has engaged at great cost Miss Bertha Dowd Mack, the champion lady skater of the world, who has been appearing with Anna Held in "The Parisian Model." Miss Mack, in addition to being a remarkably pretty young woman, is a marvel of grace and her act will be decidedly the feature of the season at the rink.

CITY SCHOOLS HAVE 10,312

Reports From White Schools Show That Attendance Thus Far.

The number of white children already recorded in attendance upon the public schools of Atlanta is 10,312, according to reports filed with Superintendent W. M. Slaton yesterday by principals of the several schools.

This number was distributed as follows:

Girls' High school	562
Boys' High school	295
Pryor	341
Walker	547
Lee	320
Boulevard	530
Davis	450
Edgewood	433
Ira	387
W. F. Slaton	220
Formwalt	399
Williams	440
West End	500
Bell	338

Tenth	410
State	548
Fraser	474
Calhoun	446
Marietta	389
North Avenue	173
Fair	554
Crew	661
Ivy	340

In a number of the schools the attendance of pupils in some grades was in excess of the accommodations provided in those grades. At a meeting of the principals of the city schools, convened yesterday afternoon under the direction of Superintendent Slaton and Assistant Landrum, a rearrangement schedule was effected whereby seats were provided for all pupils registered, the overflow from one school being accommodated in another.

At a special meeting of the board yesterday several reassignments were made in the teaching force. As a result of those changes Miss Cynthia Neal will teach during the coming term in the fourth grade, Tenth street school, in place of Miss Isabel Stephens, who is on a year's leave of absence. Miss Sadie Nolan was assigned to second grade B, Williams street. Miss Mary Thompson was transferred from third grade, Edgewood, to the Girls' High school. To the place of Miss Thompson at Edgewood Miss Claire O'Connor, heretofore a supernumerary, was appointed. Miss Mary Hudson and Miss Ione Haunson were elected supernumeraries.

The question of the advisability of adding another first grade to the present equipment of the Pryor street school was referred by the board to a committee of three, consisting of Superintendent Slaton, Assistant Landrum and Chairman Winn, of the teachers' committee, with power to act.

All special tickets of admission to the public schools heretofore issued were ordered canceled.

Edited by Alex Lynn

FINAL SERIES BEGIN TODAY

Spade or Ford Will Work Against Little Rock.

Crackers Will Work Hard to Land Pennant for Bill Smith's Birthday, That Anniversary Occurring Today—Atlanta Led in Labor Day Receipts.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.

Little Rock in Atlanta, Ponce de Leon park. Game called at 3:30 o'clock.
Memphis in Montgomery.
New Orleans in Nashville.
Shreveport in Birmingham.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Atlanta 0, Memphis 0.
Nashville 11, Shreveport 4.
Shreveport 9, Nashville 2.
Little Rock 1, Birmingham 0.
Birmingham 8, Little Rock 0.

Little Rock comes today for three games and while the interest in the race still smokes, the trio of contests that will wind up the season will not draw the vast crowds the Memphis games did.

Of course, the pennant is not flying from our flag pole yet, and a great deal depends on the series because Babb, who says he will play four games in Montgomery, is hot after the full quartet. Montgomery is minus the services of Ball and Walsh and consequently is not as strong as she has been during the season.

Anyway, there is no telling what may happen and the Crackers are not going to take any chances. To date they haven't lost a game since returning from the west. It will be fine business if they make the streak unbroken to the end of the season and they will make a gallant bid for it.

Spade or Ford will work today.

Today is Bill Smith's birthday and the Crackers are trying to land a present for him in the shape of the pennant and that is one highly desired by the Atlanta manager. Bill is—but it doesn't matter how old he is. He is young yet, although old to the game and in honor of the —th anniversary of his birth the team is going after Little Rock good and strong, so as to present him with the gift on Saturday, just several days late. Everybody has birthdays, but Bill's seems to be coming at a mighty fortunate time.

As to Labor day receipts, Atlanta led the league by just $2,616.65—not a bad bunch of figures. The Gate City outdrew Birmingham, who came second by that much. The official figures received yesterday showed Nashville in third place and Montgomery bringing up the rear. The receipts in the four cities follow: Atlanta $4,033.7'; Birmingham $1,417.10; Nashville $1,186.55, and Montgomery $362.55. For the expenses of advertising, $100, was deducted from the Atlanta money, as much from Birmingham, $45 from Montgomery and $25 from Nashville. This left a total of $6,731.05 to be divided among the teams, each drawing $841.38.

RACES AT COUNTY FAIR.

Completed Program Has Been Arranged for Eatonton Attraction.

Eatonton, Ga., September 11.—(Special.) The Putnam county fair will be held on November 5 to 9. The directors are advertising the occasion extensively and everything possible being done to make it a great success. The exhibits will be varied and complete, and the other attractions will fully measure up in interest and variety. Indications point to a large crowd.

One of the most attractive features of the fair will be the races, a program of which was arranged yesterday at a meeting of the directors. Prominent turfmen from Macon, Montgomery and other places have announced their intentions to enter some of their fastest horses. The track, a half mile one, is in fine condition. The program as arranged so far and the purses offered are as follows:

Thursday, November 5—3-minute class, trotting, $150; 3-minute clase, pace, $150; 2-year-old Georgia raised, trot, $100.

Wednesday, 6th—2:45 class, trot, $200; 2:30 class, pace, $200; 2:35 class, trot, $200.

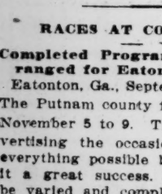

Thursday, 7th—2:25 class, trot, $250; 2:20 class, pace, $200; 2:50 class, trot, $150.

Friday, 8th—Free for all trot, $300; free for all, pace, $250; consolation purse, trot or pace, for non-winners in first, second or third races, $150.

Saturday, 9th—2-year-old Putnam county raised, trot, $100. Other classes will be named later, for which liberal purses will be offered.

The week following, the Charitable Union Fair Association, a chartered negro organization, will hold a fair on the same grounds, and, as an inducement to have the turfmen remain over, has offered purses aggregating $2,500.

FIERCE DRAW IN LAST GAME

bors fouled out to James Fox, who made a nifty stab of the ball after a hard run and Carter struck out. Nick was the first of eight to do the same thing.

In our half it was three up and as many gone, but again in the second did the enemy get a start. Castleton stopped them, however, before any havoc was wrought. It was one out when James slapped a single to center. Like his manager in the first round, he swiped second and there remained while Richards fanned and Hurlburt skied to Bill Dyer.

These were mere incidents when arrayed alongside of the nerve-racking third round, when Suggs got as far as third with only one gone and the Babblers failed to score. That was the real hot scare of the afternoon. George broke off a single to short and Bills did the sacrifice. Then Babb shot a single to center and George was at the last corner. The suspense was awful and the vast congregation that had been whooping things up all along was still as a graveyard at midnight, the proverbial mouse and any old thing that has the quiet to it.

With bated breath they watched Neighbors foul out to first. That made it a lot easier. Then Nick Carter proved to be Casey, No. 2. With the bases loaded with two Babblers, the mighty Nick manfully fanned the atmosphere thrice and a shout broke forth that was startling, because of the intense quiet that had prevailed during the round.

While the Memphii were doing all this we weren't having any kind of a look in. In the second Suggs struck out Smith, Fox and Jordan in order and in the third it was one, two, three, although some of them found the ball.

Winters Got First Hit.

Ginger caused hopes to soar skyward in the fourth when he singled to right with one gone and reached third before the inning was over. He went there when Paskert poked one to Suggs, who shied the ball to center field in an endeavor to get Winters at second. Paskert was on second and Winters on third.

The bugs were pulling like demons; it looked good, to be sure, for Sid Smith, the great hitter, was at bat. But Babb held a consultation with Suggs that resulted in four wide ones being served Sid, who could not have reached any of them with an eighteen-foot paddle. That was the deliberate walk and it made good. With the bases crowded to the exploding point, Jim Fox struck out and Jordan hit a line drive to Richards. Our golden opportunity had gone glimmering.

Then Roy struck his gait. It was one, two, three in the fourth and fifth. Carter's walk in the sixth made it one more but Nick was caught off first before Carey had a chance to hit. It was three in the seventh and three in the eighth.

But in the final round Babb got started with a clean single to left. Neighbors popped out to Castleton and Babb narrowly escaped being doubled at first. Carter flew out to left and Carey hit to short, Babb getting forced at second.

Babblers Received Scare.

Paskert got on in the sixth by getting hit with a pitched ball and the seventh came near to proving lucky for us. Jim Fox beat out a bunt with one gone and a passed ball shoved him to second. Jordan fanned, but Dyer singled to short. Babb took a chance at the punch and did the juggle, this causing Jim to start for home with the result that he mixed up in a chase and was snuffed at third. And Pfenninger was surrounded by a swarm of Crackers when he gave vent to the decision. He got a shove or two and after awhile the game was resumed.

Castleton singled in the eighth with one out, but Suggs stuck to his great form and the hits were not forthcoming. They simply couldn't solve the Memphian and he was best when the punches were needed most. But Roy was just as good.

Paskert began the ninth by beating out a poke to second, this causing some strenuous kicking on the part of the Memphii, but he was extinguished by being caught off first by Suggs and the other two went out. Then the umps called the game on account of darkness —and the most important series of the season drifted into history.

There were many sighs of relief heaved after it was all over, for the Babblers had us scared, just as we had them, and every one of the vast assemblage realized that the tie was much better than defeat.

TECH PRACTICE STARTS WITH VETERANS ON HAND

Tech football practice was postponed from yesterday, but this morning at 10 o'clock the athletes will gather on the flats for the first work-out, when about fifteen men will report. Coach Heisman expects the number to increase to about thirty men by Monday and the squad will continue to grow.

The crew is now composed of veterans and the most of the new material will not report until the college term opens. The Tech tutor states that he will have an experienced bunch to start with, and that will aid him wonderfully in getting together a great team.

Atlanta is getting alive to the college sport now and the going will be in full bloom before long.

Billy Wilson, the old Tech star, was in the city yesterday.

WANT PLAYING LEADERS; VAUGHN WILL BE DUMPED

There seems to be a movement on foot in the Southern League to get rid fo all the non-playing managers. In Birmingham an effort to supplant Vaughn with a man who can be in the game is being made and other clubs are about to follow suit. Shreveport did away with the bench leader some time ago and this season put Tom Fisher at the head of the club.

Secretary Arlich, of the Pirates, who was here with the team last week, stated that the reason Shreveport got rid of Gilks was because the club could not afford to carry a bench manager. It costs like the very mischief to have such a manager, although it is generally conceded that they get away with their jobs better when they are on the bench. There's the salary to be paid, the expenses of travel, etc., and it all cuts a large figure. That takes money that might be used in having a good man for the team. He could then act in the double capacity of manager and Mr. Good-player, and thus save money for the club.

But whatever the rest do, Atlanta will keep her own Billy Smith and he will manage from the bench. The game is worth the candle in this instance and the local club has no desire to have a playing manager. Bill naturally calls the turn too well.

However, here's the state of affairs in Birmingham:

Want to Lose Vaughn.

Birmingham, Ala., September 11.—(Special.) There is no longer a doubt but that an effort is being made to supplant Manager Harry Vaughn as the leader of the Coal Barons next season.

When questioned in this connection this morning the largest single stockholder had the following to say:

"I am not at liberty to make a statement right now. See me toward the end of the week, and the chances are that I can give some positive information."

It is the understanding that the action to supplant Vaughan is due to a desire to enroll a playing manager for next season. Just what steps have been taken to procure the services of a new manager cannot be positively said, but it is known that an offer has been made to Frank Corcoran, formerly Cincinnati's star shortstop. It is understood, too, that Corcoran has been offered a large enough salary to make Birmingham a place of marvelous attraction for him.

Further than the above, nothing as yet is known.

There is no doubt but that the local management, in case the services of a playing manager of repute cannot be procured, will retain Manager Vaughn at the helm another season. That he is as good as any other bench manager in the league is not denied in Birmingham. However, for several seasons the understanding has been that Harry would go whenever he failed to finish a season in the first division.

For four seasons Vaughn has managed Birmingham, winning the pennant once and finishing in the first division on two other occasions. There is not an unbiased judge in Dixie who will declare Harry's present bunch unfitted for the first divsion. The general impression in Birmingham and elsewhere is that the Barons can play ball when they choose to. That they can play was shown last week, when the erstwhile leaders, the Memphii, went down in three successive engagements. However, Vaughn, as head of the Barons, is held accountable for their failure, the impression being that he should have made them play. It is generally understood, however, that the players have not attempted to show up Vaughn this season, but have played indifferently because, in their opinion, the management last season showed little or no appreciation for the winning of the rag.

But the chances are that the days of Manager Vaughn are numbered as the leader of the Barons. The blow will come as a surprise to the manager, because he has just completed a scouting tour through several leagues in which he spotted worthy men for next season's aggregation.

OTHER TEAMS KEEP GOING

While some may have forgotten, the rest of the league was existing while the great champ series between Atlanta and Memphis was on in the Gate City. The games here drew the attention of every fan in this section of these United tSates and while even the players of other teams eagerly watched the outcome, they themselves have been pegging away when the weather permitted—all save New Orleans and Montgomery, who finished up the transferred series Sunday and had nothing to do until today, when Montgomery takes on the Memphii and the Pelicans go to Nashville.

Little Rock comes to Atlanta, and the series involving Memphis and Atlanta will hold ample interest until the close of the season.

The teams today start on the final series of the season, the ones that, when finished on Saturday, will send the season of 1907 into history. Three more days remain and then it's all over but the cashing.

Carnes, the southpaw amateur whom the Barons secured some time ago, has reported to Manager Vaughn. He will not be worked this season. The Baron leader has him on hand for the purpose of ascertaining what he has. Carnes has been doing well in semi-pro. circles this season. Several years ago he slabbed for the Dalton, Ga., team in a young Georgia-Tennessee-Alabama bush league and had a few marks even then.

Little Eva Wilhelm, who shut out the Memphii twice last week, a feat never to be forgotten in Atlanta, denies the report that he has been sold to the Brooklyn Trolley Dodgers. He states that the chances are good that he will be with Birmingham next season.

Desperate outlaws broke into the Birmingham club house Sunday and made away with loot to the value of $250. Uniforms, grips, bats, balls and the like were taken by the robbers.

The Birmingham Ledger of Tuesday had a top head on the sporting page a Real Ball Team Like Atlanta?"

By a vote of 4 to 2 the teams of the Cotton States League have decided to continue playing until September 18. Mobile and Meridian wanted to quit, but Columbus, Vicksburg, Gulfport and Jackson said nix, and so the battle of the bats goes on until the above date.

In the opinion of many fans, 140 games for a league the size of the Cotton States are too many, and it is almost certain that the schedule of 1908 will not contain more than 120 games. The high moguls of the league say the teams are Memphis News-Scimitar..

At a meeting of the owners of the franchises in the Texas Baseball League, Austin was awarded the pennant for 1907. Dr. W. Robbie was reelected president of the league. Temple gave notice of a surrender of the franchise, and it is likely Beaumont will go in the league next season to make up the eight clubs.

Pete Lister's advent with Cleveland next week will be keenly watched by the hustling first baseman's army of admirers here. Lister is deservedly one of the most, if not the most, popular ball player that ever skipped around in a Nashville uniform. With anything but a tail-end team he would have been a hero, but, even as it is, when only a few of the faithful take any deep interest in local diamond affairs, Hustling Pete has copped a home.

He has not only played grand ball since joining the club, but has been in the thick of every fray—always hustling and always on deck with a good stop, a timely bingle or a bale of good old pep, which wins more games than either.

Without Lister it's a safe bet that Nashville today would be eight or ten games further down the ladder—Nashville Tennessean.

Atlanta will not find Little Rock an easy mark, if the Travelers put up the same kind of ball they played here Sunday in the wind-up games with Atlanta. Mike Finn is not pulling for either team, and his athletes are playing the game right up to the minute. The Finnites worked hard to beat us Sunday, and they promise to give Atlanta a stern struggle. —emphis News-Scimitar.

FOR WELFARE OF CHILDREN

Physical Good of Children to Be Looked After.

New York, September 11.—The physical welfare of New York's school children is engaging the earntst attention of the educational authorities. Superintendent Maxwell, at a special meeting of all the school principals of the city, impressed upon them this feature for the care of the little ones. He declared it was the duty of the principals and the teachers under them to make personal investigation of the physical condition of the children and to urge upon the parents the necessity for medical attention where physical defects in children were discovered.

Special attention, he said, should be given to four classes of pupils: To overaged children to determine whether their intellectual development has been retarded by physical defect; to children who are evidently suffering from physical defects; to incorrigible children, who have a tendency toward idleness and mischievousness, and, finally, to the persistent truant.

In connection with the movement to improve the health conditions in the classrooms, the report of Lyman A. Best, president of the Brooklyn Teacher's Association, is interesting. In his annual report to the association he gives his opinion that the feather duster is a spreader of disease germs and is responsible in a grtat measure, for the physical condition of school children. He says that statistics show that the ordinary contagious diseases of childhood, such as measles, scarlet fever, dyphtheria and croup, show an abrupt rise in the number of cases in the fall, after the school windows are closed, while just as abrupt a crop occurs in the spring, when the windows are open. The cause he attributes to schoolroom dust.

"Destroy all feather dusters in the schools and prohibit their further use' is one remedy suggested by Mr. Best. Before sweeping is done wet sawdust should be scattered over the floor, said Mr. Best. Dusting should be done with dampened cloths. Every school house to be elected in the future should be completely provided with a vacuum cleaning outfit with proper connections in every room in the building, he adds.

A Queer Calculation.

(From The Baltimore Sun.)

Statisticians sometimes have queer ideas. One of them amused himself by calculating how much energy, water and coal, it would take to move the earth a foot, supposing it was subjected throughout its mass to a force equivalent to terrestrial gravitation. This is a gratuituous supposition, for in spite of its enormous mass the earth weighs nothing.

Starting with the fact that the earth's mass is about 6,100 million-million-million tons, our statistician calculates that we should require 70,000,000,000 for a 10,000-horse power engine to move our globe a foot. The boiler that should feed this engine would vaporize a quantity of water that would cover the whole face of the globe with a layer 300 feet deep. The vaporization of this water would require 4,000 million-million tons of coal. This coal, carried in cars holding 10 tons each and having a total length of 30 feet, would require 400 million-million cars, which would reach 80,000,000 times around the earth. This train, moving at the rate of 40 miles an hour, would take more than 5,000,000 years to travel its own length. It would require for storage a shed that would cover 1,000 times the area of Europe.

If we realize that this fantastically huge amount of energy is nothing at all, compared with what the earth possesses in virtue of its rotation about its axis, its revolution about the sun and its translation in space with the solar system, of which the earth is but an infinitesimal part of the universe, we may get some idea of the importance of man in the universe and estimate his incommensurable pride at its just value.

Do Animals Reason?

(London Cor. The New York Press.)

Do animals reason? The interrogatory seems to be a fruitful source of discussion. During my boyhood days on the plantation in the good state of Alabama, I remember that the family horse—Old Cream—exhibited an instinct of a high order, if not establishing a substantial claim to being able to reason.

Old Cream's daily routine, being the saddle horse, was to carry my father throughout the plantation. The service usually began in March and continued until the "cotton-picking" season ended durling November. Leaving the "white house," our residence, about 8 a. m., father would not return for dinner before noon; thereupon he would dismount and command the animal to "go to the barn!" Forthwith he proceeded to the gate through which entry was made to his stall. When closed, the gate was held in that position by a "peg," possibly six inches long, that rested in a hole bored in a post that abutted the face of the gate. Old Cream, with much skill, pulled the peg from the hole, "nosed" the gate open, and proceeded to his stall with the dignity of the lord of the manor. Instinct, did you say?

Where They Agree.

(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

Muggins—I'm surprised that you believe the story Brown just told us. Why, I wouldn't believe it if I told it myself.

Huggins—Oh, well, in that case neither would I.

WILL BUILD NEW RAILROAD

Line Will Run From Rutherfordton, N. C., to Knoxville, Tenn.

Asheville, N. C., September 11.—An announcement was made here today that, contingent on the voting of public aid bonds by Buncombe, Henderson, Haywood, Polk, and Transylvania counties, all arrangements had been perfected for building a competing line of railroad from Rutherfordton in this state, where connection will be made with the Seaboard Air Line, to Knoxville, where the proposed road will connect with the Louisville and Nashville road.

The identity of the bondholders is not known here, but the work of construction will be done by the Appalachian Construction company, recently chartered here, and the builders contemplate an expenditure of $7,000,000.

Many state convicts will be used in the work of construction and the state, under an act of the legislature passed last session, will accept stock in the new company for this convict labor.

WORK ON CLUB HAS BEGUN

Building on Auburn Avenue Will Be Greatly Changed From the Present Structure.

Active work on the remodeling of the city club house of the Atlanta Athletic Club on Auburn avenue has begun and will be pushed rapidly to completion, the present plans calling for the practically new club to be ready for the members by March 1 of next year.

So sweeping will be the changes that no semblance of the present building will be found when the improvements are done. The club now is some distance away from the street, but it will be built flush with the sidewalk, the veranda being done away with and another story added, making the structure four stories in height.

Moving the building up to the sidewalk will give 60 feet in length to the club and this extra space will be utilized in making the rooms larger, thus giving more comfort to the members.

Two more fast bowling alleys will be put in where the present locker room is located, and on the second floor where the gymnasium now is the new locker room will be built, these lockers for the athletic suits, etc., of the members. The new gymnasium will be where the running track is at present and the track will be placed on the new floor.

What is now the second floor will be converted into a reading and lounging room, and this floor also will be the main hall. In the front of the gymnasium floor will be built a room for the athletic classes.

In addition to the running track on the fourth floor will be the grill room and the billiard parlors. All of these changes will make the club much more convenient for the members, of whom there are now 850, the number calling for more commodious quarters.

The remodeling will cost $17,500. Gude & Co. are the contractors in charge of the work.

A Hint Illustrated.

Miss Isabel Irving, the delightful comedienne, was annoyed last season by a member of her company who persisted in occupying the center of the stage at every conceivable opportunity; this, as every one knows, is the inalienable right of the star, says The Bohemian. The man, who in other respects was a most excellent gentleman, had received hints which should have been sufficient, but he seemed unable to grasp them. Miss Irving finally hit upon a plan, and proceeded to put it into execution.

That evening she went to the actor and said: "Mr. ——, I wish you would come to the theater tomorrow morning at 11. I have a bit of business which I would like to go over with you."

The next morning Miss Irving and the stage carpenter, whom she had pressed into service by a small gratuity, were waiting when the actor appeared. Miss Irving got right down to business.

"Will you sit here, Mr. ——," she asked. When he had done so she took the carpenter, caught up a lantern and a hammer and went beneath the stage. There she tapped and hammered at every conceivable point of the stage supports. The process took at least fifteen minutes.

When she returned she said to the waiting Thespian: "Mr. ——, I have tested every one of the supports of the stage floor and I find that the beams at the sides and rear are just as strong as those in the center. You will, therefore, be in no danger of falling through if you keep away from the middle."

KAVANAUGH IS FIRM ON FORFEITED GAME

President of Southern League Says Matter Is at an End—Executive Has Absolute Power In Such Cases.

Little Rock, Ark., September 11.—(Special.)—No matter how the Southern League race may end, it may be set down as an assured fact that so far as President Kavanaugh is concerned, the affair of the game that Memphis won from Shreveport, on August 2, and which the league executive forfeited to the Pirates because Memphis had fifteen men under contract, is at an end.

"The Memphis club has the right of appeal to the league directors, of course," said President Kavanaugh, "although they have filed no notice of any such appeal so far. As far as I am concerned it makes no difference to me what the directors do. My only object in declaring the game forfeited was to compel the Memphis club to obey the league rules and this has been accomplished. Memphis, as well as all the other clubs, have been extremely careful not to get over the limit even for a single day, ever since.

While President Kavanaugh refused to discuss the probable action of the trustees should the forfeited game decide the championship and an appeal be taken by Memphis, yet it is difficult to see how the directors could rescind the president's decision. The league constitution gives the president almost unlimited power to enforce the league laws, and it is hard to see upon what grounds the Memphis club bases its contention that the president exceeded his authority in forfeiting the gam to Shreveport, especially since Manager Babb had admitted that he was over the limit, having [illegible] under contract that day.

President Kavanaugh has been unrelenting in his demand that the number condition. President Kavanaugh re[illegible] Pitcher Cristall for gambling and Catcher Owen for not being in physical condition. President KKavanaugh refused to allow either of these suspensions with the result that Owen was released outright and Memphis dropped Catcher Law, who had been signed but who was never played.

According to League Secretary Clark Miller, the following was the standing of the clubs Monday morning. Atlanta won 74, lost 54; Memphis won 73, lost 55; Little Rock won 64, lost 61; New [illegible] 70; Montgomery won 58, lost 69; Nashville won 57, lost 73.

TIE GAME WEDNESDAY DECIDES THE PENNANT

The tie game which was fought out by the Atlanta and Memphis teams on Wednesday in all probability means the end of the race, and, barring a cyclone and earthquake combined, should give the rag to the local team.

Atlanta has three games with Little Rock, to be played in Atlanta; Memphis has the same number of contests with the Montgomery club, to be played on the home grounds of the Senators.

Atlanta need expect very little in the way of games won from the Senators, despite the letter of President Chambers. Montgomery has mighty little chance to cop a single game from the men of the Bluff City. At the same time Little Rock should be fairly easy for the locals, who are playing magnificent ball at the present time.

The difference in the chances of the two clubs, however, lies in the fact that Atlanta is now a full two games ahead of their opponents, one by the virtue of that forfeited game by Kavanaugh's ruling; the other by superior play. President Kavanaugh had ample power to forfeit the game, and he has declared the matter closed in so far as he was concerned. The league directors will never override his ruling, so it is safe for the locals to count themselves two games in the lead.

So Memphis has a cinch—on second place.

MORE FAIR WEATHER IS PROMISED TODAY

"Continued Fair."

[illegible] row of promise [illegible] out by the weather man for today. If he can just hold out through Saturday, [illegible] Atlanta will win the pennant beyond a shadow of a doubt.

He has put in a hurry order for "Three Fair Days" and unless some other town gets in ahead of him he will have his order filled, for the Atlanta weather man stands in well with the weather makers.

There was about as much contrast between yesterday afternoon and the afternoon before as could possibly be wished. There was a little touch of fall that made the early arrivals at "Tech" make a toss up to see whether it should be watch the baseball men "line the hit" or they themselves get into togs and "hit the line."

The mercury shrunk down to the sixties early in the morning and when the game was called at 3:30 had only crawled up fifteen points. This made the atmosphere bracing and put new life into the players.

Just such another day for today is promised with the indications that it will be slightly cooler.

HOW FORMER CRACKERS FIGURE IN RAG RACE

When you come to figure out the pennant race for 1907, not only will it be necessary to count in the members of the Atlanta team—who now barring the coming of the end of the world—will win the rag, but also to say something complimentary about the men who once wore local uniforms but are now playing under other colors.

Take yesterday's game, and remember the way in which George Suggs mowed down the Atlanta batters, one after another, fanning them as if they had been dummies, instead of live men, almost crazy to hit out the ball. That Suggs boy was an Atlantan just a few years ago, and it was a defeat he suffered while in Memphis that practically gave him moving orders. Then, remember a big mass of humanity behind the plate yesterday when Suggs was pitching, and it will come to the minds of the fans that not so many years ago Ed Hurlburt came to Atlanta from Memphis and finished the season here.

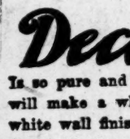

Also, Atlanta owes a debt of gratitude to a young man named Schopp, who was with the local team the first few weeks of this season and was afterwards signed by Nashville. In the last weeks of the 1907 campaign he stopped Memphis twice within seven days. Hats off to the western wonder.

Don't forget Eugene Demontreville, captain of the Birmingham club. Birmingham did her part in placing Atlanta on the road to pennant fame, by heading Memphis in three out of four games—the wind-up series of the season. In one of those contests Eugene made four hits out of as many times up. And Eugene was an Atlantan—captain of her team in 1904.

Others to be kindly remembered are Whitey Morse, captain of the Nashville club, and Neal Ball, shortstop of Montgomery.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

In no other disease is a thorough cleansing of the blood more necessary than in Contagious Blood Poison. The least particle of this insidious virus will multiply in the circulation and so thoroughly contaminate the blood that no part of the body will be exempt from the ravages of this powerful disease. Usually the first symptom is a little sore or ulcer, insignificant in itself, but soon the blood becomes so contaminated that the mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the groin swell, hair and eye-brows come out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and frequently sores and ulcers break out on the flesh to humiliate the sufferer. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison by purifying the circulation. It attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the circulation, neutralizing and forcing out every particle of the poison, and making this fluid pure, fresh and health-sustaining. The improvement commences as soon as the patient gets under the influence of S. S. S., and continues until every trace of the disease is removed from the blood, and the sufferer completely restored to health. Not one particle of the poison is left for future out-breaks after S. S. S. has purged and purified the blood. Book on the home treatment of this disease and any medical advice desired free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

The Power of Outlet and the Making of Jacobs' Prices

It is a platitude that quantity reduces cost.

But behind the possibility of quantity, buying must stand the Power of Outlet.

The great selling--the wide territory over which to distribute goods.

The being in touch with many customers, not only in Atlanta, but over many states.

Thus with the greatest retail trade in the whole South, we have the most effective weapon with which any buyer can buy.

We would be asleep indeed to our advantages if we did not own our goods at better prices than other concerns who buy smaller lots.

World over, makers yield their lowest cost and best bargains, not by sentiment or favor, but to buyers who can talk "quantity"--buy in "quantity."

In this Jacobs' is supreme.

To illustrate our buying by your own case--we quote many articles below at the prices for one and by the dozen.

It will serve to show you the power of quantity buying. On four or more of any one article we allow the dozen price.

COTTON NERVOUS AND UNSTEADY

Due to the Action of the Revision Committee.

But at the Close the Market Was Steady—September Showed an Advance of Eleven Points. October Three Points.

New York, September 11.—The cotton market was more or less nervous and unsteady today, owing, in part, to the uncertain action of the revision committee after the close tonight. The close was steady at an advance of 11 points on September, of 3 points on October and 1 point lower to 1 point higher on later months. Sales were estimated at 300,000 bales. The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points on near months, which were influenced by moderate bull support to a decline of 4 points in the later positions, as a result of lower cables and good weather over the south. After the opening prices worked up to a net advance of 4 to 6 points on an active demand from some of the recent heavy sellers. But at the advance there was selling by spot people and the market eased off to a decline of 3@6 points with the active months selling about even with the low level of yesterday. There was a renewal of covering at this level and at one time in the afternoon prices were 9 to 15 points net higher, September being relatively firm. The close was off from the best under realizing.

Receipts at the ports today 13,406 bales, against 7,070 last week and 19,967 last year. For the week 100,000 bales, against 44,573 last week and 139,161 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 1,050 bales, against 2,862 last year, and at Houston 4,691 bales, against 9,622 last year.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 11.—Staple printed fabrics were advanced to 7c a yard today by several print works, the new jobbing price to become effective September 24. Broad silks were advanced for spring delivery from 3 to 5 per cent. Trade for the day was generally quiet in dry goods, but deliveries on old orders continue large.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, September 11.—Cotton spots closed quiet; quotations revised: Low ordinary 9; ordinary 9 13-16; good ordinary 11¼; low middling 12⅜; middling 12⅝; good middling 13; middling fair 14⅜; fair 15½. Sales were 150 bales on the spot. Futures closed barely steady with the active months 5 to 8 points below the close yesterday.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, September 11.—Cotton spots in increased demand; prices six points lower; American middling, fair, 8.44; good middling 7.90; middling 7.36; low middling 6.86; good ordinary 6.13; ordinary 5.52. The sales of the day were 12,000 bales, of which 1,000 were for speculation and export, and included 11,900 American. Receipts 2,000 bales, including 300 American.

Futures opened easier and closed easy.

London Stock Market.

London, September 11.—The decline in copper shares in New York yesterday, the reduction of the Calumet and Hecla dividend and fears of a reduction of other dividends, caused a depression in copper shares on the stock exchange today. Rio Tinto falling 1@12 points, Amalgamated 2¼, Boston ⅛ and Anaconda ½. The other markets had a good tone. Consols improved 5-16 of a point, while American rails hardened to above parity. Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk were supported on their favorable traffic reports. Union Pacific was a leader in the market recovery. The close was firm. Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 11.—After so sharp a break, a steadier market was in order today and with minor fluctuations the market has shown a steadier undertone, due to a covering demand. It is natural to take a fresh view of the situation at the decline, as the short interest has naturally increased on a weak market, while spinners have bought a small amount of hedges on this basis. A revision of the differences will be made this afternoon after the close, which also checks business, as the recent demand for the low grades and the offerings of high grades puzzles the trade as to the decision of the committee. Liverpool was the weak position and should show a somewhat steadier tone tomorrow.

Carpenter, Baggot & Co.

New York, September 11.—Some complaints of too low temperatures in the western part of the belt are coming in. The movement of new cotton is keeping up to full expectations, considering the lateness of the crop. Savannah receipts today 6,333, against 2,000 last week and 4,500 bales last year. New Orleans receipts 1,050, against 292 last week and 2,800 last year. This is against any aggressive buying. The market is narrow and looks like a scalping affair, with a gradually declining tendency. We look for a broadening market as the movement increases and would favor confining operations to the short side with sales on any rally.

Copper Was Weak Again During Session.

But Did Not Affect General List to the Extent They Did on Previous Day—New York Bond Sale Was of Cheering Effect.

New York, September 11.—The sentiment of the speculative element, so far as could be read from the action of the stock market, was in a state of flux today. The tide of the price movement shifted constantly in response to conflicting influences—first on one side and then on the other. The weakness of the copper stocks made a distinct line of cleavage through the market, as it did yesterday, but this weakness was later in asserting its sentimental effect on the general list, and that effect was not so marked as yesterday. Prices of the metal went lower, both in London and at the New York metal exchange, and this was the dominant factor in the copper industrials. The general market was inclined to resist this influence and, at times, did so successfully. The movement was still called largely professional and shorts left uncovered after yesterday's declines were given credit for much of the buying. The New York city bond sale was of more cheering effect on opinion today than was the case with the imperfect knowledge of the details of the transactions in possession of the market yesterday. More weight was given to the oversubscription five times, and to the large number of nearly 1,000 bidders, and less, to the low price, so considered, for the average bids. Call money showed a relaxing tendency after the strain of preparation for the bond sale and for the Union Pacific convertible subscriptions. As applications for the New York bonds ran to a total of over $200,000,000, there was naturally some resources for which preparations was found unnecessary and which were thus released. The many fluctuations during the day left inconsiderable net changes, after all, the closing being firm at a rally.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $960,000.

United States 2s, registered, advanced ¼ per cent on call.

WHEAT DROPPED OVER 2 CENTS

Heavy Realizing Sales Weakened the Market.

December Dealing Was Off Two and a Quarter Cents at the Close—Heavy Selling by a Leading Long Was Feature.

Chicago, September 11.—Wheat prices on the local exchange lost more than 2c per bushel today because of heavy realizing sales. At the close the December delivery was off 2⅛c. Corn was down ¼c; oats were up ⅛c; provisions were unchanged to 2½c higher. Sentiment in the wheat pit was extremely bearish all day. The feature of trading was the heavy selling by a leading long. Holders of small lines and shorts also sold freely. The absence of frost in the northwest and the protections of continued mild weather, together with the government crop report, were leading bear issue features. A report of heavy snow in western Kansas caused a rally about the middle of the day, but the market soon weakened and closed nearly at the low point of the day. December opened ⅛ to ⅝c lower at 98⅞c to 99½c, declined to 95½c and closed at 97⅝c.

Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 470,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 723,000 bushels, against 177,000 bushels on the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 276 cars, against 466 cars last week and 507 cars last year.

The corn market was weakened by a sharp decline in wheat. Reports that receipts from the country are increasing also acted as a bearish factor. The market r

His Trouble.

A small, quiet-looking man, smoking a large cigar, sat by the side of a medium-sized automobile that was drawn out of the road as a large touring car came along, driven by a man with an interrogatory aspect, says Collier's Weekly.

The man in the touring car slowed up and leaned over.

"How long have you been here?"

"About two hours."

"Can you find out what the matter is?"

"No."

"Inlet valve all right?"

"Yes."

"Trouble with spark plug?"

"Think not."

"How are your batteries?"

"O. K."

"Haven't got a short circuit, have you?"

"Oh, no."

"How's your commutator?"

"Great."

"Perhaps your worm gear is clogged?"

"No—all clear."

"Got any gasoline in your tank?"

"Plenty."

"How about your circulation; cylinder isn't bound, is it?"

"No, sir."

"Tires seem all right?"

"Never better."

"Well, maybe your vibrator isn't adjusted?"

"That's all right."

"Have you looked at your carbureter?"

"Yes."

"How about the cam shaft?"

"Grand."

"Have you tightened your connecting rods, examined your clutches, and gone over the differentials?"

"Yes—yes."

The man in the touring car paused a moment, and then, looking at the stranger by the roadside, said at last:

"Would you mind telling me, sir, just what's the matter with that machine of yours?"

In answer the man pointed to a large red farm house in the distance.

"See that house out there?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, sir, there isn't anything the matter with this machine, but since noon my wife has been in that house kissing her sister's first baby goodby. When she gets through, if you are not over a thousand miles away, and will leave me your address, I will telegraph or cable you the glad news at my own expense."

Feminine Finesse.

"Amie, it seems to me that you slyly provoke your husband to wrath every morning," said the mother to her newly married daughter. "I'm afraid you do not know what you are doing."

"I know exactly what I'm doing mamma. He goes away angry in the morning and always brings me a nice present in the evening as a peace offering. He would never be so liberal if left to his own way."

GRIGGS MEETS RODDENBERRY

In Joint Debate He Attacks Opponent's Career in Legislature.

Tifton, Ga., September 11.—Judges Griggs and Roddenbery met in the second of their series of joint debates at Ashburn, in Turner county, Tuesday, during the session of Turner superior court.

The debate was advertised for 1 o'clock, but Judge Spence adjourned court at 10:30 and notified the contestants that they could have the courtroom until 1:30, so the debate began at once, with only the audience present, which had assembled early.

Judge Griggs had the opening and conclusion today, and each speaker was limited to one hour. The audience of about three hundred was apparently three-fourths Griggs, but each speaker was enthusiastically cheered by his supporters.

Turner county, like Tift, is considered one of Griggs' strongholds, and close observers say they have seen nothing since the debate to indicate any change either way, the only visible effect being to make the friends of each candidate more sanguine and active.

Griggs Attacks Roddenberry.

The debate was along much the same lines as the one in Tifton, with the exception that Griggs, having caught his opponent's line of argument in the previous debate, was more aggressive and sprung on Roddenbery the latter's record in the state legislature, when he voted against a bill to punish illegal voting in primaries, and also against a bill requiring all locomotive firemen to be able to read and write, which was intended to exclude negro firemen. He spoke of the support Mr. Roddenbery had given him in previous campaigns, and said if he had been wrong for ten years, Roddenbery had been his legal adviser.

The perfect way in which he mimicked Mr. Roddenbery's impassioned gestures and exhorter style of speech brought rounds of applause from his adherents. He also twitted Roddenbery with his vote against Guerry, and with attempting to ride into office on the prohibition wave.

Judge Roddenbery renewed his charge that Griggs had never consistently favored prohibition, and attacked his record on immigration and disfranchisement.

Both candidates filled their speeches with ginger, and as their remarks, like javeline darts, punctured each adversary's armor, their adherents marked the touchdown with yells of applause.

Equal Pay for Women.
(From The Shreveport Times.)

Secretary Cortelyou has followed the rule laid down by the late General Spinner, former treasurer of the United States, that when a woman employe of the government rendered the same service as a man she should have equal compensation. The case on which the secretary passed was that of Miss Margaret V. Kelly, who for more than a year has been performing the duties of adjuster of accounts for the director of the mint. The office was formerly filled by a man, who drew a salary of $2,000 a year.

When George E. Roberts, director of the mint, began closing up his affairs, preparatory to going to Chicago to become president of the Commercial bank, he took up with Secretary Cortelyou the case of Miss Kelly, who had been receiving a salary of $1,600 a year as a classified employe of the civil service. The secretary of the treasury is an alumnus of the civil service school. The only information he desired was whether Miss Kelly was performing the duties of a $2,000 position and doing the work satisfacorily. The director of the mint answered that she was, and the only reason he could offer why she had not been advanced previously to $2,000 was that she had not asked for promotion and was already receiving more than the average pay for women clerks. The director of the mint was anxious that justice be done in the case of Miss Kelly before he quit office. Secretary Cortelyou promptly advanced Miss Kelley to the $2,000 class and appointed her "adjuster."

This again raises the question to which The Times has referred on one oh two occasions of women receiving the same pay as men when they render the same service. The government thinks they should, at least so far as Mr. Cortelyou is able to commit the government. There is really no reasonable ground for discriminating against women, except of course when the nature of their employment is such that they cannot do the same amount of work as a man. There is no reason why women teachers, women clerks and women bookkeepers should not receive the same pay as men who do the same work. On the contrary, there are strong reasons why women should have a shade the better of it, if any preference is to be shown.

Same Name, Different Man.

Governor Hughes, at a dinner in New York, talked about disorderly political meetings, according to The Times, of that city.

"A friend of mine," he said, "was once a good deal annoyed while addressing a meeting by a man in the front row who howled like a dog. At every telling point in my friend's argument this man would emit frightful howls and spoil the effect.

"My friend asked the name of the man, and was told that it was Harry Loff. Then he said in a loud voice:

"'Mr. Loff, it is plain that our friend Goldsmith had you in mind when he said:

"'"The watchdog's voice that bayed the whispering wind.
And the loud Loff that spoke the vacant mind."'"

"He said that, did he?" cried Loff furiously, and he turned and struck a little fat man behind him a hard blow over the head.

"It was only after a five minutes' scrimmage and much profane abuse that Mr. Loff was convinced that the Goldsmith referred to was the long-dead poet, and not the little fat man of the same name."

Animals at Play.

Animals have a keen sense of "making believe," which is the essence of play. A child's first game is bopeep—make believe. When a couple of dogs have a jolly tussle they make believe to engage in deadly combat. A striking instance of this occurred to a writer some years back. It gave a dead mouse to a kitten. It was the first time she had seen one, and she sniffed at it inquisitively before deciding to toss it about. A pair of slippers lay on the floor. She dropped the mouse into one of them and immediately proceeded to look for it most zealously in the other slipper till I took up the first, which contained her booty. Then she showed that it was no real lack of memory that had sent her on the bootless search.

The Lucky Ones.

"Old Rounder is engaged."

"Gee! Who's the lucky woman?"

"There are millions of her."

"Why, he isn't engaged to more than one?"

"Nope; that's what I mean—all the others are lucky ones."—Houston Post.

SHORT STORIES OF LOCAL FIELD

IN A SUIT FILED IN THE CITY COURT yesterday O. H. Brookshire asks $10,000 damages from the Georgia Railway and Electric Company for injuries sustained by him Tuesday while a passenger on one of that company's cars. The accident in which the alleged injuries are claimed to have been received occurred on the street railway bridge over the Western and Atlantic railroad tracks near the Exposition mills, the street car jumping the track there and crushing the claimant's arm and wrist between its side and the bridge uprights.

THE MEN'S LEAGUE OF THE CAPITOL Avenue Baptist church will hold their regular monthly meeting Thursday night at the Capitol avenue church, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. A very interesting meeting is expected, as the speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. S. J. Parrish, pastor of the Glenn street Baptist church. Dr. Parrish is an interesting and forceful speaker of unusual insight and eloquence, especially when dealing with such topics as he will use for Thursday night. A cordial welcome is extended to all male members of the church and congregation and community at large to attend this meeting.

His Preference.

"Our new chef," said the manager of the restaurant, stopping to chat with the patron, who had deep lines between his eyebrows, "is a wonder. I really believe the man could take an old rubber shoe and make an appetizing dish out of it." "That so?" asked the patron, tapping meditatively with his fork upon the steak that had been served him. "Suppose you tell the waiter to take this steak back to he chef to fix up a rubber shoe for me."—Modern Society.

His Memory.

First Boy—Did you really win three prizes at school?

Second Ditto—Yes, and one was for my excellence of memory.

"How did you win the others"

"The others? I forget what they were for."—Translated for Transatlantic Tales from Blanco y Negro.

Injurious Habit of Crossing Legs.

A most injurious habit, common alike to men and women, is that of sitting with one leg swung over the knee of the other. Headaches, cold feet, varicose veins, ulcers and many other discomforts attendant on an imperfect circulation of the blood are directly traceable to this habit, says the September Delineator.

When the right leg is swung over the left knee the whole weight is sustained by this knee placing all the pressure against the under part of the right leg between the calf and the kneecap. At this very place are a great number of large veins, arteries and nerves; the pressure on them crowds all the tissues together and materially interferes with the circulation of the blood, and the disturbance of nature's processes manifests itself in many bodily evils and inconveniences. Many who would not be guilty of crossing the legs in public often surrender to the temporary comfort of the position in the seclusion of their own rooms. It is wrong and injurious because it defies nature, whose laws are more imperative than those of society.

As to Sugar.
(From The New York Press.)

It has been said by many thoughtful men that sugar kills more men and women than whisky. This may or may not be true. It is a fact, however, that when a physician imagines or pretends to know that a patient has Bright's disease, the first thing is to prohibit the use of sugar in food and drink. Yet people lived largely on sugar for fourteen centuries before Bright's disease was discovered. But sugar must be sugar. I have been accustomed to buying three and one-half pounds of sugar for 22 cents. Only the helpless pure-fooders know what it consists of. The other day I bought a barrel which cost me 1 cent a pound more. The difference? The sugar in the barrel will dissolve in half a minute, leaving no sediment; the three and one-half for twenty-two never completely dissolves, and possesses but little sweetness. It seem to contain chalk, etc. There' the rub.

Dr. Twain, Not Dr. Clemens.
(From Harper's.)

According to the cabled reports, the chancellor of Oxford university, Lord Curzon, presented the degree of doctor of literature to Mark Twain, not to Samuel L. Clemens, thus making it a case of Dr. Twain!

TWO NEGROES ARE SUSPECTED

Of Murdering Wife of Lieut. Frank Rorschach at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., September 11.—Thomas Archer and Horace Lee, the negroes arrested as suspects in the murder of the wife of Naval Lieutenant Frank Rorschach, who was shot down with her own pistol by an unknown burglar early yesterday, were today held without bail by Mayor Reed, of Portsmouth, until after the inquest Friday.

Mrs. Q. T. Overman today told of seeing a negro immediately after the tragedy, washing his shoes and hat in the salt water of the river nearby. M. T. Mayo, an expert shoe man today declared the shoes of Archer were salt-water soaked. Archer was formerly a United States sailor and knew, it is believed, this was the time for Mrs. Rorschach to receive money from Lieutenant Rorschach, whom the police hope to have identify Archer.

Ths afternoon Wm. Shields, a negro aged twenty-two years, who had said that he "was with a white man who killed a lady," and that "they were looking for him," was taken into custody at Pinners Point, across from the Rorschach residence. Shields told a conflicting story as to his occupation and his whereabouts at the hour of the tragedy yesterday morning.

Lieutenant Rorschach arrived from Boston today and proceeded to his home in Portsmouth. The scene upon the arrival of the husband of the murdered woman and the meeting with his two little sons was heart-rending. Lieutenant Rorschach, too much overcome by grief to be interviewed, retired to his room.

Considerate.
(From The Washington Star.)

"Is your husband kind and sympathetic?" asked the inquisitive woman.

"Yes, indeed," answered the recently married girl, "he insists on living at a hotel rather than have me eat my own cooking."
